NEW YORK CHATS OVER WIRELESS WITH LONDON

Groups Easily Hear 4 Hours of Talk.

New York, March 7.—[Special.]—

Scores of conversations were held by telephone between New York and London today at a demonstration of transatlantic radio telephone by the American Telephone and Telegraph company, the Radio Corporation of America and the British general post office.

More than thirty engineers and newspaper men talked from the New York telephone headquarters to a similar group at the British post office in London. The hearing on the New York side was equal to local service.

The Englishmen said that it was much better than they were used to. They were interested through four hours of small talk. Sentences were blurred by static, but this occurred rarely.

Representatives of the New York newspapers and of many press services were guests of the telephone company at the New York offices and held conversation, one at a time, with about thirty British press representatives.

Listen to Cathedral Chimes.

When the conversation lagged some one on the other side thrust the microphone under the window of the British post office building while the bells of St. Paul's cathedral, just across the street, were pealing. They rang beautifully across the Atlantic.

Thirty or forty persons with earpieces listened to each conversation and the thrill of hearing London as clearly as the Bronx or Brooklyn kept them interested through four hours of small talk. Sentences were blurred by static, but this occurred rarely.

Practically no trouble was experienced at the American end of the 3,500 mile conversation but there were occasional complaints from the British end.

Over Three Years of Experiment.

Three and a half years of experiment on transatlantic telephony preceded today's demonstration. One reason for holding it is that many radio experts have constructed sets which enable them to capture the weekly experimental conversation across the Atlantic on the 5,770 meter and the 5,250 meter wavelengths. Inquiries were received at the telephone offices in such a volume that it was decided to answer them all at once by a test which would show the progress made in the direction of commercial service between England and the United States.

Today was selected for the demonstration because it was the fifteenth birthday of the telephone. On March 7, 1876, the first telephone patent was issued to Alexander Graham Bell.

As the young woman fell to the floor Emerson picked up his screaming little daughter, Lois, 4 years old, and Mercedes, 1, kissed them and dashed out of the house.

Think He Brought Doctor.

When the Peering street police arrived they found Dr. Keith Selby, 4157 South Halsted street, giving Mrs. Emerson first aid. The physician said he had been taken to the home in an automobile by two men, one of whom fitted Emerson's description.

Mrs. Emerson was removed to the County hospital where physicians said her wound was so serious that it might cause her death. After hearing her story, the police at once sent out an order for the arrest of her husband.

Early last night, Mrs. Emerson told the police, her husband appeared at their home a bit intoxicated. She said he at once started to abate her for not having been active in obtaining bond for him. She said she retaliated by scolding him about his criminal activities.

Fires in Midst of Quarrel.

The quarrel grew, according to the woman's story, and suddenly Emerson drew a revolver and fired. Screams of the little girls aroused neighbors, who called the police.

Emerson had been released from the county jail on bonds of $25,000. He had been held on charges of participating in the attempted blowing of a safe of the Williams Grain company, 406 Pershing road, on Feb. 9. He was captured by Policeman Patrick Nevelly after a gun fight that won the officer $100 reward for his services.

Big Food Order Shows Prisoner in Double Role.

Orders for dozens of sandwiches, whole pies, and coffee called for by a neighboring shopkeeper for Job Koskiak, released with stealing a sack of potatoes in the Maxwell street station yesterday caused the police to investigate.

Where's that guy getting the dough for all this food? Nathan Gold, son of the shopkeeper, was asked.

"O, he's got a check," said Nathan. "It's for $19.40. Papa's got it now and this guy's gonna spend it all with us."

Investigation disclosed that Koskiak had been booked as Theodore Frye, 1175 West Jackson boulevard, and that the check also was issued to that name. Then Joe calmly confessed his right name and said he found the check and decided to appropriate the name as well as the tender.

Released Thursday from the county jail where he had been held for safe blowing, William "Dutch" Emerson, known to the police as an expert burglar, last night went to his home at 3821 Emerald avenue, upbraided his wife, Sadie, 27 years old, for not being active in getting him out on bond, and then shot her in the left side, seriously wounding her.

As the young woman fell to the floor Emerson picked up his screaming little daughter, Lois, 4 years old, and Mercedes, 1, kissed them and dashed out of the house.

GIRL, JILTED FOR ANOTHER, TAKES POISON, MAY DIE

Because the man she loved and expected to be married to told her he was to marry another, Margaret Burroughs, 25 years old, early yesterday took poison in an effort to end it all in her room at 913 Lawrence avenue. She was taken to the county hospital, where it was said it was doubtful whether she will recover.

The girl left a note to Virgil Melcher, 5444 Sheridan road, saying: "Why did you tell me you were going to get married when you know my condition?" And this sent Sgt. Joseph Corcoran and Philip Krause of the Town Hall station searching for him.

James P. Butt, roomer in the same house with Miss Burroughs, told the police of obtaining the poison from a drug store for her.

"I didn't know what it was for," he said. "She simply said she was feeling badly and asked me to get it for her."

Woman Dies in Flames; Husband Severely Burned.

Mary Jones, 35 years old, colored, was burned to death last night in a fire which broke out in her home, 3423 Vincennes avenue, while she and her husband, William Jones, were asleep.

Jones was seriously burned. He told firemen that another blaze a week ago destroyed the lower floor of the two-story structure and that he and his wife moved up stairs.

Barred German Mine Blasts British Graves in France.

(Chicago Tribune Staff Service.)

PARIS, March 7.—With a roar heard for six miles, a German mine exploded in the center of a British military cemetery at Thiepval, near Amiens, this afternoon, when laborers in a neighboring field pulled a wire they found.

The mine hurled crosses and tombs and their contents high in the air, leaving a huge crater.

Weird Papers Abet Story of Wolf Millions

BY SIDNEY SUTHERLAND.

By means of emphatic remarks and a Chinese grass envelope crammed with weird documents in many languages, Attorney Robert L. Cohan yesterday attempted to refute Alice Worthington's statements concerning John Worthington, "The Wolf of La Salle street."

First—That her father left no will whatsoever disposing of his property.

Second—That any alleged will Cohan might hold was fraudulent.

Third—That the estate instead of totaling $3,500,000, as Cohan claimed, would amount to only $250,000, if that.

Fourth—That Cohan would not receive $250,000 from the estate, but that she, Alice, alone would inherit whatever there was.

Attorney Cohan produced a mass of papers of a strange character. They purported to be revocations of wills, blank checks to be filled out in half a dozen European languages on half a dozen European banks, confidential correspondence before and after "The Wolf" was sent to the Atlanta prison where he died last Tuesday, the will itself, and bank statements from abroad showing millions upon millions of German and Polish marks, Italian lire and Austrian kronen on deposits to the credit of John Whitehouse Worthington.

Explains Mysterious Will.

And this is the explanation of the confidence man's solicitor gave of the famous will—why it was drawn up, why there were no witnesses to it, and why it has not been probated.

"At about 6 a. m. Oct. 7, 1925," said Mr. Cohan, "Worthington reached Chicago. He called me at once. I spent all that day with him at the Jackson Park tavern where he lay sick. During the day he had piled on his bed more than $500,000 in bonds, stocks, promissory notes, and other negotiable paper."

"Some time before his arrest the following day he got rid of this stuff. Where it went, I do not know. I believe he gave it to his daughter, Alice, who now seems to have been advised to break with me in the matter of settling her father's estate."

Refused to Have Witnesses.

"That afternoon Worthington said he knew he was dying and wanted to make a will. He dictated what he wanted and I took notes. I could not call a witness because I feared the news he was in town would leak out and he'd be arrested immediately."

"I took the notes to my office at 1

sphere, at least so long as the United States is not a member.

Sig. Scelzo and Mr. Vandervelde did not take sharp sides in the conflict, although Italy's support of Poland was voiced by Premier Mussolini in a newspaper interview a week ago. The Belgians are considerably crestfallen through being ignored entirely for a permanent place, as in the early years of the league, the Brussels government was often mentioned as the logical successor for the place left vacant when the United States refused to join the league.

See League Facing Crisis.

Although the big guns of the league are attempting to smile optimistically, those on the inside do not deny that the league faces a crisis. With Germany standing pat on entering alone, and with the Madrid envoys, headed by Prof. Yanguas, Spain's foreign minister, and Quinones De Leon, Spanish ambassador to Paris, threatening to quit the league if their demands are not granted, serious repercussions which might wreck the league are certain.

Neither the Spaniards nor Count Skrzyński, the Polish foreign minister, both of whom arrived today, were heard during the informal meeting, as Sir Austen and M. Briand hesitated to have them face Dr. Stresemann and other opponents to a larger council.

Chamberlain Sees Suspicious Clear.

After the conference this afternoon Sir Austen issued the following statement:

"We had a full and free talk at Locarno," he said, "covering the whole ground, but did not find an immediate solution of our troubles. Nothing could have been decided today, as we were unable to bind anybody but ourselves."

"We have cleared up some misapprehensions and suspicions, which no longer affect our minds. That sums up the conference so far. We hope before meeting again to find some method of smoothing out the difficulties."

"What we are seeking is to make the entry of Germany absolutely non-controversial, and that would be worth waiting a day or two to attain. I am concealing nothing. I base my faith on the fact that this is too big a thing to spoil at the last moment, for too much hangs upon it."

Briand Is Hopeful.

Before leaving for Paris, M. Briand said:

"We have reached no accord, it is true, yet I remain hopeful. At least we have all frankly outlined our respective viewpoints and know wherein we differ. I hope and expect to return within 48 hours and pursue the negotiations."

It was noted as a significant fact that the crowd outside the Beau Rivage hotel cheered only Dr. Stresemann when the delegates left. Outside the Metropole hotel, where the Germans are housed, a huge black, red and gold flag of the German republic waves for the first time in Geneva since 1914.

"DOWN WITH FRENCH DEPUTIES," CROWDS CRY AT DOUMERGUE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LYONS, March 7.—To their great astonishment, the conservative manufacturers of Lyons at the banquet opening their annual industrial fair, saw Christian Rakovsky, Soviet ambassador to Paris, seated at the right hand of the president of France.

It was explained that the Soviet envoy was entitled to a seat of honor, since he was an ambassador and the only one present. The presence of M. Rakovsky, resplendent in full dress, indicated the Soviet's fervent desire to capture the favor of French industry.

The progress of President Doumergue through the immense crowds in the streets of Lyons was attended with cries of "Down with the chamber of deputies!" "Disolution!" and other evidence of the dissatisfaction of the prosperous industrial center with the country's lawmakers.

League to Mark Time.

Tomorrow the council will draw up an agenda, and in the afternoon the assembly will meet to elect a president, which will probably be Dr. Alfonso da Costa of Portugal. An effort is being made to stall along until Tuesday, Wednesday, or even later, and thus delay taking up officially Germany's application for admission until after the next French cabinet is formed and M. Briand returns.

Turkey Refuses League's Invitation.

(Copyright: 1926: By The New York Times.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 7.—Turkey has refused the invitation of the league of nations to be represented when the treaty recently made between Great Britain and Iraq is submitted to the league council.

The reasons given by the Turks are that the invitation was only received yesterday, that they are unacquainted with the terms of the treaty, and that they have nothing to add to what they have already stated on the subject.

Tomorrow he will visit Amadora airfield and will demonstrate American parachute methods before the Portuguese aviators and air officials. He is a guest of the Portuguese Aero club.

FRANCE FROLICS ON RUDDERLESS SHIP OF STATE

In No Mood for Coup; Seek New Premier Today.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, March 7.—France, rudderless today, looks ahead and tries to keep calm despite the voices raised over the ship from the poop deck to the foremast that there are breakers just ahead. The country is rudderless with a vengeance. Former and Acting Premier Aristide Briand is at Geneva and President Doumergue at Lyons. Both houses of parliament have dissolved for the week-end.

Paris, however, goes about its Sunday frolics as if it actually had a government and the franc, still shaky from its fall yesterday, and resting over the holiday, did not face the danger of a new tumble tomorrow.

In the political void created by the fall of the Briand ministry, after its ninety-nine days of troubled existence, all kinds of rumors echo, many of them ominous. However, the country seems to be definitely out of the mood for a coup d'état, rumblings of which troubled the good burghers' sleep during the November crisis.

May Ask Briand to Act Again.

Conferences to solve the political tangle will commence tomorrow morning with the return of the president and M. Briand to Paris. The belief is held generally in Paris today that an offer to reorganize the cabinet will be handed to M. Briand promptly, although the little smile of relief noted on the face of the old warhorse when the chamber of deputies turned him out of power with the dawn Saturday morning give rise to the assumption that he will refuse the premiership. He may want to continue as minister of foreign affairs. Nevertheless, the names of Briand and premier are as inevitably linked as those of Joseph Caillaux and minister of finance.

The situation is doubly confusing.

because Saturday morning's vote gave no indication of any clear majority and the usual political procedure of calling the victors to form the government is out of the question. It would take a sage of the seventh water to figure out who is the victor and who is the vanquished in that memorable mess.

Herriot in the Offing.

Can the left cartel, whose lines have almost been effaced, be resurrected? This is a question of supreme importance to the politicians. In case there is a possibility, Edouard Herriot or Rene Renaut might become premier. Both are returning from Lyons with the chief executive.

But there is good reason to think that the old cartel is only a wraith and that there will be a new cartel further to the left, including the communists.

Again, there is a further belief that M. Herriot and M. Poincaré have reached an understanding for a coalition cabinet, uniting the old enemies in a bloc of Nationalists and radical Socialists. This belief, growing stronger, is causing extreme perturbation among the extremists of the left cartel.

Royalties Would Take Hand.

Taking advantage of the vast confusion, Leon Daudet, the royalist chief, offered President Doumergue his services and the collaboration of his "troops," which are made up of a magnificent trained student corps known as "Camelots du Roi," and the other royalist association, "Action Française," who drill carrying canes as weapons.

With the cabinet's crash it is apparent that M. Briand was knifed in a sort of plot by which Friday night's discussion led him into dangerous waters on the petrol monopoly, about which he and especially Finance Minister Doumergue once uttered sentiments of socialist color. The right parties then promptly tarped the ministry. M. Briand is known to be privately gunning for the authors of the little conspiracy, who are thought to be within his own camp.

Doumergue Must Fix Policy.

(Copyright: 1926: By The New York Times.)

PARIS, March 7.—President Doumergue's problem when he returns to Paris tomorrow from Lyons will be less that of whom will he ask to take leadership in the new cabinet than what policy will he decide after consultation with political leaders in the best interests of the country and has the most chance of success in the present divided state chamber.

When he asked M. Briand to form the last government it was because he counted on his personal authority and ability. That authority and ability has, however, counted for nothing in the battle of opposing interests and it is obvious that the next government will have to make a much more definite choice than M. Briand ever did between the left and right.

That is the president's dilemma. Will he decide for an out and out left policy or will he seek to continue M. Briand's attempt to form a center government with perhaps a more pronounced leaning towards the right. It is evident that the only real majority in the chamber is still the cartel majority—that combination of radicals and socialists which was elected in May, 1924. When it has been elected it has always been because of a split between two component parties consequent on the attempt of socialists to impose their dogma and theories. But it still exists as a real representation of the electors' wishes. M. Briand cracked the combination, but he failed to split it entirely.

Wife Wounded; Husband Claims Shot Accidental

Mrs. Annie Siwakowski, 38 years old, was shot and seriously injured last night when a revolver in the hands of her husband, Michael, was discharged. The bullet struck her in the throat. At the county hospital it was said she probably would recover. Four small children of the couple witnessed the shooting. Despite the husband's assertion that the revolver was accidentally discharged, he was held by the Marquette police.

Frank Barnes, watchman at the National fur and coat company, 612 West Huron street, reported to the East Chicago police last night that five bandits overpowered and bound him and took five barrels of natural alcohol from the plant.

PAPERS IGNORE JUDGE'S RULING; PRINT TESTIMONY

Bay St. Louis, Miss., March 7.—(AP)

—Newspapers appeared in Bay St. Louis, county seat of Hancock county, today containing portions of the testimony introduced yesterday in the trial of Jesse Favre, charged with murder.

An order was issued by Judge Walter A. White, presiding, on Feb. 27 that newspapers "having a circulation in Hancock county" refrain from publishing such testimony.

At the opening of the trial Judge White had his order read from the court minutes and emphasized it in remarks from the bench. He explained the order was based on the presumption that other cases probably will be tried on the same facts as those developed in the Favre trial and publication of the testimony would handicap the court in its efforts to obtain a fair and impartial jury for trial of these later cases.

Judge White declined to say what course he would pursue in the event the order should be disregarded.

SHOTGUNS KILL WRONG MAN IN SICILIAN FEUD

Gnoffo, in Hiding, Escapes
Ruse of Assassins.

Police and deportation agents struggling with Chicago's Sicilian murder situation last night were confronted with another in the long series of gang and alcohol killings.

Shotguns killed Joseph Calabrese, 1939 South Racine avenue, while he rode early in the day in an automobile at 224 street and Keeler avenue. Calabrese's head was almost blown off and three others riding with him were wounded by the dozen shots which riddled the car.

Linked to Spingola Killing.

Detectives traced this killing back directly to that of Henry Spingola, brother-in-law of the three Genoa brothers, Angelo, Tony, and Michael, who were killed in rapid succession a few months ago; but at the same time the officers were convinced that Calabrese, 33 years old, and the father of three children, was a victim of mistaken identity.

The police believe that the slugs which killed Calabrese were intended not for him but for Philip Gnoffo, 1119 South Racine avenue, the man whose machine Calabrese was riding in when he was killed.

For the killers, the police believe, must have thought that Gnoffo was driving the car, whereas the driver was not Gnoffo, but Ralph Cavallero, known as Gnoffo's right hand man and chauffeur. The detectives go back over the following chain of circumstances in their efforts to solve the killing of early yesterday morning.

Relied on Deportation Drive.

Gnoffo, known as Alacide, was believed by the police to have had a hand in the killing of Henry Spingola. In fact, Gnoffo was arrested for that murder, but the police were unable to get enough evidence to hold him.

Gnoffo was known to have been arrested for murder in Greensburg, Pa., in April, 1915. He was arrested by Sgt. Leonard Burch two weeks ago in the deportation drive, and arrested with him were Cavallero, his driver, and the dead man, Calabrese.

Gnoffo admitted being a close friend of Oscar Tropes, known as "The Scourge," killer and iron handed collector of blackmail and of the Sicilian and Anselmi murder defense fund, who was shot in death at Taylor and Halsted streets several weeks ago.

Gnoffo also admitted to the police that he had several times been shot at in the company of Oscar.

Since the killing of Henry Spingola, followed by the taking off of Oscar, Gnoffo has been practically in hiding in his home, police were told yesterday.

And a ruse—which did not work and which led to the death of Calabrese—was used on Saturday night to bring him forth.

Ruse Fails to Work.

At 10 o'clock Saturday night Gnoffo's garage, containing his Cadillac car, suddenly broke out into flames. Police now believe it was set afire to draw Gnoffo out to the rescue of his car so that the killers might get him.

But Gnoffo did not go; would not be drawn out. Instead of going himself into the garage behind his home, he sent his man Cavallero. After the latter had pulled the car out of the fire, Gnoffo told him to drive it to a private garage.

Instead Cavallero picked up Calabrese, Conchas Lallone, and Tony Ponetti and started to drive with them to a Cicerone restaurant to "pay a little bill."

Police theory now is that the killers, believing Gnoffo was at the wheel followed the car, caught up with it at Keeler avenue and 224 street, and opened fire.

Deportation agents questioned Gnoffo and the rest of them at the Lawndale station yesterday but found all had taken out papers of citizenship.

SKULL PRACTICE PUTS FINISH ON BOOZE RAIDERS

Chicago's prohibition agents now have 100 per cent knowledge of what one-half of one per cent is.

Yesterday they were called to prohibition headquarters in the Transportation building to attend the first general skull practice ever held in the district. One by one they were called on to stand up, as in the old days of the little red school house, and tell what they knew about injunctions and chemical tests and warrants.

At the end of the quiz lectures were given to the students, who numbered more than a hundred. According to the instructors, the school was like all other schools. Some of the agents know as much about their business as a bootlegger knows about his and some knew a little less. But results were so pleasing that higher-ups in the dry forces will continue the classes.

Assistant Administrator W. H. Kennedy and T. E. Howard conducted the class, dealing with the intricacies of permits and inspections. E. H. Lloyd, attorney to the administrator, spoke on legal matters.

Mr. Lloyd pointed out that a number of cases had been lost in the federal courts because agents had made technical errors in handling evidence.

2 DAY MINNESOTA SNOW MAROONS WEEK-END AUTOS

St. Paul, Minn., March 7.—(AP)—Several hundred persons were marooned in various sections of Minnesota over the week-end while efforts were being made to dig the greater part of the state out of its two day burden of snow.

At Milaca hundreds of basketball fans and players, who came from surrounding towns to witness a tournament here Saturday night, were held imprisoned last night by the weather.

At Fergus Falls thirty automobile loads of persons who attended the automobile show were detained by impassable roads, while snow on the Hibbing-Virginia state highway forced more than sixty automobiles to remain at Hibbing.

Pulda had more than ten inches of snow, which was piled into huge drifts by a heavy wind. Roads were blocked. Country roads in and around Sandstone also were impassable.

Bus service out of the Twin cities was interrupted. Automobile traffic from and into Montevideo was at a standstill.

Temperatures were hovering tonight around zero.

Western Railroads Demand Speedy Freight Rate Boost

Asserting that present earnings are inadequate to pay a fair return on investment, attorneys for the western railway committee today will present a brief demanding an immediate increase in freight rates.

The brief, which was made public here yesterday, declares that a five year test has shown that the western roads cannot obtain the fair return contemplated by law with the present tariffs. It adds that the eastern and southern roads have steadily increased their earnings during the same period.

Seeks Relief for Future.

"The western carriers have no means of recovering past losses," the document continues, "nor do they seek to do so. They have, however, applied to the interstate commerce commission for relief, in order that in the future they may maintain an adequate system of transportation under conditions that will be fair to shippers, employees, investors and owners, and in the interest of the public at large."

"The inadequacy of present earnings in the western district has not been denied. There was some slight improvement in 1925, but the gain over the amount needed to provide a return on the investment made in the properties during the preceding year was so slight that if this same relative increase were to continue in the future it would take the western railways twelve years to reach the earning power prescribed by law, or to equal the earning power of their properties in 1916."

Meanwhile, in these twelve years the net earnings of these lines would have fallen one billion dollars short of the fair return to which they are entitled.

"In these circumstances there can be no duty resting on the western lines to give further trial to the present general freight rate levels. The law does not contemplate that carriers in any rate group shall struggle along year after year with plainly inadequate earnings. The years 1923, 1924 and 1925 show the effect of the present freight rate level. The rate structure has been tried out and found wanting."

Insist Farmers Share Burden.

"In the present case we have shown that it is now necessary to raise slightly the general level of freight rates in the western district if adequate transportation service is to be maintained. We have shown that the products of agriculture and live stock should reasonably and properly contribute their share, along with other commodities, of the increased rates. "We have shown that during the period of depression products of agriculture and live stock were given preferred treatment in the matter of freight rates, and that even under the proposed advances they will still be in a relatively favored situation in respect to other commodities, compared with the period before the war."

CAN DRIVER IS ROBBED.

DRY LAW GRAMS WASHINGTON JAIL WITH SCOFFLAWS

Building Must Be Enlarged
if Prisoners Increase.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., March 7.—(Special.)—Prohibition, instead of emptying the District of Columbia jail, bids fair to force the erection of a new one, or additions to the present structure. Liquor law violators constitute nearly half of the population of the overcrowded district prison. Increasing by leaps and bounds since passage of the Volstead act, the number of convicted scofflaws reached its peak last week, when approximately 46 per cent of the 511 prisoners housed in a jail built to house 400 in an emergency, were prohibition law violators.

Need More Money.
Taxed beyond their capacity, according to Maj. W. L. Peake, superintendent of the jail, the district commissioners have turned to congress for a deficiency allowance of at least $7,000. In 1926, when the number of prisoners committed for all offenses was only 5,207, the jail was given $37,000. Now, with a total of prisoners for the year ending on June 30, 1926, expected to exceed 11,500, the jail is operating under an appropriation of $53,000. Maj. Peake pointed out. No proportionate enlargement of the jail facilities has been made in spite of the yearly increase of prisoners, he continued.

During the last two years, according to Maj. Peake, the number of prisoners sentenced for intoxication and other violations of the liquor laws increased about 1,000 and about 400 in the two years before.

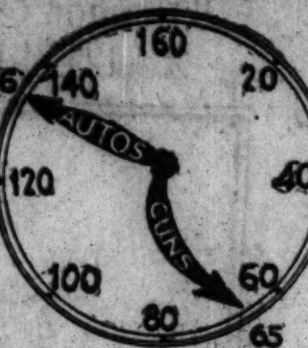

463 Were Drunk.
"As usual," declared Maj. Peake, in his annual report, "the greatest number of commitments was for intoxication, the total being 3,520 or 463 more than for the previous twelve months."

And in his report for the fiscal year 1925, the major observed, "a comparatively enormous increase in the number of intoxication cases, the prisoners for this offense reaching 4,728, or an increase of 1,108 over the year preceding."

An entire wing of the district jail—known as "the Volstead wing"—is given over to prohibition law violators and yesterday, it was overcrowded with 70 more men than there were sleeping facilities for.

FALL FROM LADDER FATAL.
George Goding, 40, 5231 Warwick avenue, died last evening at the Alexian Brothers hospital from injuries received March 5 when he fell from a ladder while at work in Our Lady of Grace church, Alhambra street and Ridgeway avenue.

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths from automobiles and guns in Cook county. Yesterday was the sixty-sixth day of 1926.

DRIVER DIES IN COLLISION WITH CAB; TOLL IS 136

One death yesterday, that of Carl Hannon, 28 years old, 5143 Calumet avenue, raised the 1926 county total of automobile accident victims to 136.

A car in which Hannon and three others were riding collided with a taxicab at 494 street and Drexel boulevard and overturned. Hannon was instantly killed; Thomas Thompson, driver of the cab, was injured, as were the other members of Hannon's party. Thompson was not held.

EVANSTON CROWD BEATS ANNOYER OF TWO WOMEN

Ushia Baba was pursued by a crowd of angry Evanstonians and severely beaten last night after he had seized two women as they passed along Davis street near Chicago avenue.

Mrs. G. L. Deverall was the first woman to whom Baba, who is believed to be demented, made advances. She was walking with her husband, an official of the Holden laboratories, 1225 North Halsted street, at the time Deverall struck at him and he fled. A little further on Baba seized Mrs. Alfred T. Osmer, 2310 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Her husband was with her and he struck at the attacker also.

Again Baba fled. Quayle Mumford, 1338 Sherman avenue, and Robert Kindig, 646 Hinman avenue, heard Mrs. Osmer's screams. They joined in the chase and captured Baba. A crowd quickly gathered, while Mumford hastened to call the police. When the officers arrived they found the prisoner lying on the sidewalk with several gashes in his scalp.

ELECTIONS GIVE CHANCE FOR POLL ON WET ISSUE

State to Officially Record
Stand Next Fall.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

The congressional elections in Illinois this year will give this state its first opportunity since prohibition to speak officially on the question of modifying the Volstead act. Unofficially, but unmistakably, Illinois went on record four years ago when it voted almost 3 to 1 for beer and wine in a state-wide referendum.

Facing the heavy odds of a normally tremendous Republican majority, George H. Brennan, Democratic boss, has made modification an outstanding state issue in his campaign for the United States senate.

Even the worst novice in politics senses that Brennan's nomination is a certainty. If he wins in the November election or even gives his Republican opponent a close run, the election two years following will find the woods full of congressional candidates who want to take the wet side of the proposition.

Time Ripe Now, Says Brennan.

Even now some of the congressional fights are significant. Lacking a war chest and an effective organization, the Association Opposed to Prohibition has been working on the preliminaries for a real test two years hence, but Mr. Brennan decided the time is ripe now. He has two running mates as candidates for congress at large—Charles A. Karch of East St. Louis and Frank J. Wise of Joliet—who will make the state-wide fight with him. They intend to lay the plans in the primary for the fight in November, when the Republican ticket will be led by either Sen-

ROCK ISLAND PUTS ITS EMPLOYEES TO RAISING CHICKENS; BUYS 50,000

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 7.—[Special.]—The Rock Island railroad has purchased 50,000 baby chicks from poultry men at Traer, it is announced, and they will be distributed among the road's employees in all sections of the country who raise poultry as a side line.

Already more than 25,000 chicks have been ordered by the company. Four hundred go to Fort Worth, Tex., 200 to Oklahoma City, 200 to El Reno, Okla., 250 to Little Rock, Ark., 100 to Pond Creek, Ark., and smaller numbers elsewhere on the system.

A country-wide contest will be started by the railroad officials with prizes for employees who make the best showing with the chickens, it was said. While the contract calls for 50,000 chicks at 20 cents each, it is believed the order will be increased, as the early indications are there will not be enough to meet the demand.

Senator McKinley or Frank L. Smith, the G. O. P. state chairman.

McKinley and Smith have avoided the wet issue in their primary contest, although Senator McKinley is one of the apostles of the Anti-Saloon league. Two other champions of the dry league are candidates for renomination—Congressmen at Large Rathbone and Yates. They have their hands full of opposition in the Republican primary, chiefly so far from Harvey Sindlinger of Danville, who is out for modification. Fred W. Beach of Chicago, another candidate, has taken the same stand.

No Opposition to Eight.

Eight Illinois congressmen, including three outstanding wets, are without any opposition in the primaries. Modificationists take encouragement from the fact that the dries are making no attempt to defeat Congressmen W. E. Hull of Peoria, Frank R. Reid of Aurora, Republicans, or Stanley Kunz, Democrat, of Chicago, all wets. Others without opposition are Congressmen King (Fifteenth), Holaday (Eighteenth), Hull (Second), Republicans, and Rainey (Nineteenth) and Arnold (Twenty-third), Democrats. Congressmen Madden (Republican) and Doyle and Sabath (Democrats), all wets, have no serious opposition for renomination.

In the Third district, where there are hot scraps in both parties, prohibition promises to become a factor with other leading issues. Congressman Sprout is opposed in the Republican primary by former Congressman W. W. Wilson, who has the Deneen-Lundin backing. Michael T. Kenney is the Dunne-Lewis O'Connell-Harrison candidate against Edward J. Glackin, Brennan wet, with Lawrence E. Hogan as an independent.

Rockmeyer is a Wet.

Thomas A. Brockmeyer, the Crowe Barrett entry, is making modification a leading issue against Congressman M. A. Michaelson in the Seventh, where the Democrats are fighting also. John S. Hall being the Brennan candidate against Frank Buchanan, the anti-Brennan entry, but both are for modification.

James T. Igoe, Democratic regular, is maneuvering for the wet vote in the Sixth district, while the Republicans are in a hot factional fight. Congressman John J. Gorman is being opposed by Mayor Willis McPeck of Oak Park, with Deneen-Lundin support. In the Britten-Baur-Farrell contest in the Ninth district modification is an outstanding issue.

Richard J. O'Halloran of La Salle has made modification his chief issue against Congressman Fuller and State Senator Hicks of Rockford in the three cornered race for the G. O. P. congressional nomination in the Twelfth district.

In the Twenty-second (East St. Louis) district the dries are on the side lines, while two wets, Congressman Irwin and Assistant Attorney General William E. Trautmann, fight it out for the Republican nomination and the wet vote of the district.

White Rhinoceros.

In search of the white rhinoceros, the giant eland, and the beautiful antelope known as the bongo, a few Field museum expedition will invade central Africa, greatest of all hunting grounds, about April - it was announced yesterday by D. C. Davies, director of the museum.

The expedition, which will also make general zoological collections including mammals, birds and reptiles, will enter Africa by the port of Dar-es-Salaam on the east coast and begin work in the Tanganyika territory, formerly a German colony now under British control. Thence the naturalist-hunters will cross to the southern head waters of the Congo river, on the border of the great rain forest, in a region comparatively unknown to naturalists. From this region the party will move northward via Lake Victoria and Uganda to the head waters of the Nile, and will spend considerable time in Sudan along the White Nile, returning after one year to the United States via Khartoum and Cairo.

Known as the Field Museum-Conover-Everard expedition, the enterprise is jointly financed by H. B. Conover, associate in ornithology at the museum, and Robert T. Everard of Detroit. John T. Zimmer, assistant curator of birds at the museum, is the third member of the party.

Mr. Conover, who is principally interested in birds, will make a special study of game birds, of which many rare and unusual species are to be found in the proposed territory. He has previously made similar expeditions to Alaska and to South America.

Mr. Zimmer is a veteran of other expeditions in the Philippines, East Indies, New Guinea, and South America. Mr. Everard is making his first expedition for museum purposes.

"We are more than glad to have private citizens cooperate with the Field museum in its scientific research in all branches of natural history," said Mr. Davies, announcing acceptance of the offer and organization of the expedition.

TREASURY RULE AGAIN SOUGHT BY SMALL, IS CLAIM

Lundin Pupil, Stratton, Is Backed for Office.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Gov. Small and Fred Lundin, so their political antagonists said last night, are out to grab the Illinois state treasury again. It is, they say, the one political matter they are conducting privately in their present campaign by leaving United States Senator Deneen out of consideration whether he likes it or not.

Small and Lundin are running their own hand picked candidate for state treasurer, William J. Stratton of Lake county, director of conservation in the governor's cabinet and former chief state game warden.

Nurtured by Fred Lundin.

Stratton was home grown and politically nurtured carefully through the years by the Sage of Lake county before he was placed in Mr. Small's cabinet. He was formerly chairman of the Lake county board and was a conspicuous figure around the home precincts during Gov. Small's trial at Waukegan for misconducting in the same office Mr. Stratton now seeks.

It was predicted several weeks ago that Mr. Stratton would be entered by the two state bosses and that efforts would be made to persuade Walter R. Kinsey, Mount Carmel banker, to withdraw as a candidate in Stratton's favor by tendering Kinsey the job of JERUSALEM, Palestine, March 7.—A British military column accompanied by armored cars, today left here for Amman, one of the main cities of Transjordan, where a Bedouin uprising was reported. The situation is said to be serious. The Bedouin Arabs surprised an outpost and killed the occupants.

Filling the Seiber vacancy on the Illinois tax commission.

Mr. Kinsey withdrew yesterday and asked his friends to support Stratton. Kinsey is a former president of the Illinois Farmers' Institute and a one time mayor of Duquoin.

Deneen Wishes Are Ignored.

The wishes of Senator Deneen, with whom Lundin and Small are working hand in hand in Cook county, were not considered on the treasurership. Deneen's chief lieutenant for many years in the downstate, Garrett de Forest Kinney of Peoria, is a candidate for treasurer also.

But Kinsey also has been one of the leading minds in the management of Deneen's campaign for United States senator, and Smith's success is one thing Mr. Lundin doesn't want to see come to pass. So when a large field of treasury candidates appeared on the scene Stratton was trotted out for the double purpose of getting the treasury into the small camp again and for telling Mr. Kinney a thing or two at the same time.

Deneen to Make Protest.

Senator Deneen is expected back from Washington this week and one of the things that is expected of him is a strong appeal for his old aid, Kinney.

In anticipation of this and to show Mr. Deneen that they intend to give him a battle all along the line, the Crow-Barrett Republicans endorsed Robert Nelson Crawford, La Salle county banker, for state treasurer. They also entered a candidate, U. G. Lee, against Deneen's friend, Supreme Court Clerk Charles W. Vail.

Four Others in Race.

When Stratton was brought out the politicians thought it was another trick out of Mr. Lundin's trick box. And it was. Instead of running Stratton as trading capital in the primary, Mr. Lundin is in earnest and intends to get the job for himself and Lee again.

Four other candidates are left in the field—L. J. Brown, Chicago; Axel Hamberg, Oak Park; Joseph P. Kilduff, Peru, and Charles T. Stevenson, Bloomington.

According to Mr. Lundin's arithmetic, it needs just about that many extras to muddle things up properly so Stratton can come through on primary day.

SCOUTS SEARCH FOR BOY, GIRL, MISSING 2 DAYS

Tonla, Mich., March 7.—Ernestine, 8, and Gilbert, 9, children of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Randall, disappeared from home yesterday noon and were still unaccounted for late today and 50 Boy Scouts were organized to scour the country. The children had a sled and it is believed they went to the overgrown prairie near their home to slide, and possibly were blown by the wind over the ice and into the river.

KIMBALL PIANOS

A PIANO is selected with the thought that it will remain a family possession for probably a lifetime.

For that reason—as in buying works of art—you will find it a great advantage to have the guidance of recognized authorities.

You have that guidance when you buy a KIMBALL, for your judgment is supported by that of great pianists and operatic stars, both of the present and the past, who have declared the KIMBALL their favorite piano.

Yet, notwithstanding the rare beauty of tone which earned the admiration of these exacting critics, the KIMBALL is most moderately priced. Long experience in manufacturing, and factory equipment developed through many years, give you the benefit of these economies.

Hear the KIMBALL demonstrated—at any time that suits you—the grands, both large and small—and the wonderful reproducing grands, the uprights and the players. And bear in mind that the KIMBALL "One-Price Policy" assures to every purchaser the same full, generous value.

THE THREAT OF ANOTHER
ALIEN TIDE.

Counting the hyper-sentimentalism of certain American people and the desire of the industrialist for cheap labor as its strongest allies, the Wadsworth-Perman amendment to the immigration act is threatening the United States with another alien tide.

No sure evidence of our charge of a few days ago, that this amendment favors the interests of the alien and not the interests of the American citizen; could be obtained than the dispatch from Donald Day, at Riga. A dispatch, by the way, not ordered by the "home office," but sent by Mr. Day because he recognized its timeliness and news value.

The estimates of American consuls in Europe, as reported in Mr. Day's dispatch, agree with the estimates made in this country. The Wadsworth-Perman amendment would multiply the present alien influx into the United States approximately five times.

Millions of Europeans—not figuratively, but literally, millions—are waiting to come to the United States the minute the immigration bars are let down. Three million Russian Jews comprise the largest group, while other huge numbers are waiting to leave Italy, Greece, and Poland.

Russia's annual quota under the present law is 2,348. Italy's is 3,348; Poland's, 5,382; and that of Greece, 100. To admit 3,000,000 Russian Jews, 500,000 Italians, 32,000 Poles, and 1,700 Greeks, as it has been estimated would happen if the law were amended, would be to destroy every benefit the restrictive act has brought to this country.

No single law, probably, during the last quarter century has so acted to elevate the general standards of living and labor in the United States as has the restrictive immigration act. To lower the restrictions now is to undermine these standards, the highest in the world.

Sentimentalists will talk of the hardship worked upon the alien and his relatives in Europe who are kept from him by the quota limitations. Let them, instead, expend their sentiment on the American workingman. If they want him to continue prosperous, if they want him to continue in the enjoyment of the better things he has won after a long uphill fight, then let them cease gushing over the poor alien.

Industry was the vehement opponent of restrictive legislation. It will raise its voice again in favor of the amendment. Yet, what have the restrictive laws done for industry? Cheap labor no longer flows through Ellis Island in an unending stream, but the increased cost of labor has been made up, and more than made up, by the increased buying power of the country.

It is natural that Europe should want to move over and occupy America. It is one of the great migratory movements which have marked the history of mankind. The dweller in the fertile valley prospered and grew rich. After prosperity and riches came softness, and then came the hordes from the ruler environment of the hills and forests.

Because the outlanders do not come to America waving spears and war clubs their onset is all the more insidious. A certain percentage of the American people will exhibit the softness that has spelled the downfall of every other great nation. They will let the invader come in and usurp the American heritage.

Those who are not so soft, however, will consider the welfare of America instead of that of Europe. They will let in those whom they want, not those that Europe wants, to become fellow citizens of the United States.

A SPECIAL SUNDAY FOR THE POOR.
The Lord's Day alliance descended upon congress the other day to present arguments in favor of the Lankford bill. This bill is intended to establish in the District of Columbia a puritanical observance of Sunday. All kinds of commercial activities, including recreations and amusements, are to be forbidden under threat of a $500 fine and six months in prison. The Lankford bill, the alliance hopes, will become the model for Sabbatarian laws in all the states.

Representative Gilbert of Kentucky asked the spokesmen for the alliance whether the Lankford bill would interfere with Sunday golf. He was assured that unless the golf were commercialized it would not be interfered with. Thus the poor man who cannot afford to join a golf club will be denied recreation on his day of rest, but the members of golf clubs will remain undisturbed in their pleasure.

We do not know whether the Lankford bill, in framing their restrictive laws, fear the rich or revere them. At any rate, it is apparent that the rich man is always left outside or above the law. It is so with prohibition, for the rich have no difficulty in obtaining liquor of the first quality. It is so with the anti-evolution laws; the rich man's son goes to the endowed college and it is only the poor man's son who must take the kind of education the state gives him.

The Lankford bill would prohibit games to which an admission is charged. It would close the baseball parks and the golf courses which charge a fee. It would close the moving picture theaters and the concert halls. It would close the bathing beaches. It would prohibit excursions by boat or rail and the sale of books, newspapers, magazines, gasoline, and ice cream sodas. In brief, it would prohibit the pleasures and relaxations of the common man.

The man of means has little to fear from all this. His golf course is not commercialized within the meaning of the law. He owns his horses and can therefore enjoy a canter in the park without desecrating the Sabbath by hiring a horse. He can afford to buy his own moving picture machine for his own home. He owns his country place and can go bathing on his own beach. The law might cramp him a bit, but it would scarcely cause him serious inconvenience. Unlike the poor man, he could desecrate the Sabbath in the eyes of the Sabbatarian to his heart's content and stay well within the law.

The discrimination is so apparent that we cannot doubt it was intentional. The alliance appears to know who butters its bread.

OUR CONTRIBUTION TO THE NEXT WAR.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has made public a letter he wrote to the President regarding the Italian debt settlement. Mr. Mellon hopes the argument he made in his letter will induce the senate to speed its ratification of the terms to which our debt commissioners agreed. We got as much as we could, Mr. Mellon says; and now if we reject those terms, what chance have we of getting more favorable ones later on? This settlement has been approved by the commissioners, the President, and the house of representatives. Will Italy ever agree to pay any more than these Americans have already signified is fair, merely because the senate refuses to approve the settlement? Italy will not, says Mr. Mellon, and in refusing to negotiate anew she will not improve her moral credit.

The argument is conclusive as far as it goes. This country will never get more than 25 cents on the dollar of its loans to Italy. Mr. Mellon concludes that we must choose between that settlement and nothing, and to him that means we must take the settlement. We are by no means so certain his choice is the better.

The senate cannot entirely ignore the political consequences of a debt settlement. Mussolini's Italy is a menace to the peace of Europe, and hence to the prosperity of the United States. Our country will be serving its own interest, to say nothing of that of the rest of the world, if it does all in its power to impair Italy's war making ability. The money Italy owes us may be our contribution to the next war or its prevention.

Italy cannot fight much of a war without foreign money to help her. One question for our senate to consider, then, is whether Italy's offensive strength will be weakened more by payment than by nonpayment. In other words, will an Italy which owes more than two billion dollars to the United States and pays nothing on it be able to borrow more readily in future than an Italy which pays the United States only $5,000,000 a year? The $5,000,000 annuity is not much of a burden on a country as large as Italy and it is a negligible payment on a debt of $2,000,000,000. It is only one-fourth of 1 per cent interest, but if we allow Italy to pay it she can parade before the world as an honest debtor deserving of further credit. If Italy, on the other hand, is placed in the position of repudiating her debt, Mussolini might find credit more difficult to obtain if he decides, as so many dictators before him have decided, to embark upon a war of conquest.

The problem is not so simple as Mr. Mellon seems to think. He says it is a choice between something and nothing; in reality, it is a choice between nothing and next to nothing. Congress cut taxes $287,000,000 and our government is still going to collect $2,800,000,000 from the taxpayers this year. We are setting aside $500,000,000 a year for the service of the national debt. Italy's $5,000,000 is lost in the company of such figures. If we could make European peace more secure by refusing to accept Italy's money, the price would be a small one.

Italy's annual payments for the next five years will be $5,000,000; in the following ten years they will increase gradually to $18,000,000. At the end of the next decade they will reach $28,000,000, barely 1 per cent interest, 25 years after the settlement becomes operative. It is not until the final payment, 62 years hence, that Italy will pay as much as 4 per cent interest. Many observers suspect that the children and grandchildren of the men who negotiated the settlement will not be eager to meet its heavier exactions when the time comes. The senate need not rush to approve a settlement which yields almost nothing in the years in which it is at all likely to be carried out.

MCKINLEY ON GUARD.
Senator McKimley is not given to promiscuous speech making in Washington. When he speaks on the floor of the senate, therefore, it is fair to conclude that the matter he is discussing has been studied with great care. His remarks a few days ago on the Gooding bill indicated clearly that the long and short haul controversy has received his close attention.

His analysis was clear in thought and statement. The senator showed that the bill would benefit only the jobbers in the so-called intermountain territory between the Rockies and the coast range, and that it would work untold hardship upon industry and agriculture throughout the middle west.

Sensor McKimley's voice was the voice of the middle west. Irreparable damage to the prosperity of this section will result if other middle western representatives are less mindful of the interests of their constituents.

The Other Side
DEPORTING ALIENS.
(Milwaukee Journal.)

About a million dollars is being set aside for the deportation of criminal aliens and aliens who have entered the country illegally. It is the breakdown of local government in Chicago that has brought the problem of the alien to a head. The campaign, however, is to be national.

We want to be careful that this policy does not develop into a lynching bee. In a committee of the house a deportation act is being considered that could easily become a terrorist measure. The bill should be so amended that every man accused shall have his day in court, and that there shall be no abuse of power. So far as Chicago is concerned, there is evidence which suggests that some officials are hiding behind the alien, and are only too eager to take up the cry of "Stop, thief!"

What Chicago does about the alleged alliance between some public officials and underworld gunmen and run runners is a local matter. When the decent people there get sick enough of it, and stop letting their attention be diverted from home affairs by such fake issues as repeal of the world-court resolution, there will be hope for Chicago. But we wait none of Chicago's hysteria in a national deportation policy. The often suggested registration of aliens surely should be included in any thinking with immigration matters, so that the alien who comes to this country properly shall have ample proof of his right to stay here.

WATERMELON SEED TEA.

WATCH out for a run on the watermelon seed market! A professor in the University of South Carolina, as a result of very careful investigation, comes to two conclusions about the medical uses of watermelon seed tea. One is that it will reduce high blood pressure. The other is that it is good for acute bladder troubles.

This gentleman, named Barkdale, had heard the housewife stories of the curative properties of watermelon seed tea, and he concluded to investigate. Being a scientific man, he went at his job in a scientific way. He examined to find if watermelon seed had any medicinal properties. He found that when given in large doses it would kill experimental animals. That settled that point. If a drug is capable of killing an animal when given in excessive doses, there is a chance that it may help cure in certain conditions—at least it has what the scientists call "physiological properties."

The next step was to find what was the agent of power. He concluded that watermelon seed had no alkaloid, any like morphine, found in opium. The next set of tests showed that there was an active chemical in the seed, and just where it belonged in the rank of chemicals.

When this refined chemical was used it gave the same effects as those given by the cruder watermelon seed tea. Experiments on animals and children, tests on patients showed that both the tea and the chemical extract had considerable power in reducing moderately high blood pressure.

No person who has had high blood pressure should conclude that he can take a daily dose of watermelon seed tea and then continue foolish ways of living and have his blood pressure fall or stay down.

Barkdale says that, in many households, whenever a member of the family becomes a little feverish, has a little pain in the stomach, or has a headache, or voids urine frequently, the chances are that a diagnosis of "catarrh of the bladder" will be made. This first step is soon followed by the second—to wit: some watermelon seed tea is brewed and the sufferer drinks it freely. A very broad and long continued experience.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS
65 YEARS AGO TODAY
MARCH 8, 1861.

WASHINGTON.—Senator Douglas said that the inaugural address shows that Lincoln has the nerve to say what is right, platform or no platform. I defend the inaugural, believing it an emanation from the brain of a great patriot. In the senate Wigfall of Texas criticized Senator Douglas' attitude toward the address. He said: "If you want war, you shall have it. If you want peace, you shall have it. Treat the confederate states as independent and you can have peace. Treat them as states of this Union and you will have war. Mr. Lincoln has got to remember the troops from Pickens and Sumter or they will be removed from him. You must withdraw your flag from our country, and allow us to have our own, and enter into a treaty with them. Do this, or make up your mind for war in its sternest aspect and with all its accumulated horrors."

CHICAGO.—(Editorial.)—Wigfall of Texas has retained his seat in the senate, notwithstanding the secession of his state, for the twofold purpose of pocketing constructive mileage and declaring war against his country. Wigfall is a joyful traitor. He says the Union has gone dead and that the only question now is whether it shall have a Protestant funeral or an Irish wake. Wigfall talks of bayonets and battles and says if Fort Sumter and Pickens are not immediately surrendered they will be taken by force of arms in rather less than a twinkling. This course of procedure would call an Irish wake. Old Sam Houston once said that Wigfall was "the smartest damned fool I ever saw."

WASHINGTON.—Mrs. Lincoln was presented with a span of magnificent horses by several New York gentlemen. She held her first ladies' reception and performed the office of hostess with much grace and dignity, being graciously supported by her sisters, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Kellogg. Mr. Lincoln will hold his first presidential levee this evening.

WASHINGTON.—The Charleston Courier says that Gen. Beauregard expresses perfect confidence, after viewing the fortifications at Sumter, that it can be reduced and that it would be only a question of time.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO
How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE YIDDISHER DUMBBELL AND THE LANGER LENZ.

You say spring is only a jump and a half behind. Maybe you got right, but even so, don't think yourself, everybody glads himself over it. By the posts spring is fine, but by far faster there give better year-times. By us in the home, when a better would say "hard times," he says "a long spring"; or, like it is in German, "langer lenz." There one does not say he saves for a rainy day; one says instead that he puts something away for a "langer lenz."

It gives a story about a longer lenz which my Rosie read once in a book. Could she remember what book, I would tell you its name. And you could read the media for yourself. But leader, she forgot, so if you should come to this story I must tell it you.

Thomas was always putting away for the longer lenz. When Telka, his frau, wanted something for the house, or the kinder or herself, or even that Thomas should buy for himself something, he always said: "It were better, yes, we should put the money away for the longer lenz." And because Telka was as good as she was dumb, Thomas had always his way. But lots of times Telka wished herself: "Oh, that only the longer lenz would come, so that after that we could buy sometimes something."

And so it fell for, that there come one a long, young man to Telka's house, saying he was a shoemaker gessle from Raab, and the Herr Polezel Commissioner sent him there for dinner. Dinner over, he bethanked himself nicely and got himself ready to go on his way. Only then did Telka remember herself from something.

"Dummkopf what I am, I never even asked your name so I can tell it to my man, which left early in the morning to go to the market."

"My name," answered the shoemaker, stands here written, and he showed it her, on the vander-book.—Johann Lenz.

"What," said Telka, looking on him from foot to head, "are you, the Langer Lenz?"

"So the other gessle or herself," he answered. "Then wait a minute," she said, leaving him, to come back soon with a little bundle. "Here, take this. For years already my man puts it away for you, saying always, 'It is for the Langer Lenz.' How glad will be you got it, endly already!"

But when Thomas came home—

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY.
The End of the Vigil.
By S. E. Minale.

If one had been in the great hall of Stone House that dark night, one might have seen Dasyliurus sneaking stealthily creeping up the stairs, and if one had seen one would have seen that he had something in his hand that glistened and which looked quite sinister.

Finally, after much secrecy, he came to a door, and silently opening it, he crept up to a bed, and reaching over he took the covers, and with much deftness pinned them down with the safety pins he had in his hand and in a low voice said, "Now, dammit, that'll hold the covers on ya. Good-night, little one."

TREES IN THE WEST PARKS.
Chicago, March 5.—West side parks will soon be parks without trees. The writer has passed through Garfield park nearly every day for the last thirty-five years, and, with the exception of a clump of trees placed where the conservatory once stood, not a single tree has been set out in the main part of the park. Today there is scarcely a sound healthy tree left standing. Hundreds of trees have been lost without a single replacement. The ones left standing are a sad lot to look at, and it will take fifty years to get trees with any shade to speak of.

Something ought to be done with park money besides paying boulevards for bus lines. W. E. MARTIN.

THE INVENTION OF BARBED WIRE.
Daytona Beach, Fla., March 1.—After reading your editorial in THE TRIBUNE of Feb. 28 entitled "Barbed Wire," a sense of justice prompts me to write you.

Having known Mr. Halsh all my life, I have no desire to steal any laurels from him, but considering the fact that no Halsh barbed wire has been made for years—since long before the war—and that the wire used in the war was that which was made in the American Steel and Wire factory in De Kalb—from the Golden patent (this factory being the old I. L. Ellwood Manufacturing company)—it seems too bad to have Mr. Halsh and Mr. Ellwood quite forgotten by the world in the few years that they have been gone.

Mr. Joseph Glidden, I. L. Ellwood, and Jacob Halsh all "created" (as you speak of it) barbed wire at about the same time. The priority has never been settled. Mr. Ellwood died quite recently. Mr. Halsh's wife was a better one than his and began to make it in the old Ellwood factory in De Kalb. They are still making it, and this was the wire used during the war.

All three of the men were kindly and benevolent, doing much for De Kalb. I feel I would not be just to any of them to challenge your statement. MAY G. ELLWOOD.

HARD TAILORED INVESTIGATIONS.
Chicago, March 3.—Midst all of the weeping and gnashing of teeth it is perhaps significant that no Chicago politician expressed himself as enthusiastically in favor as in Washington for the purpose of influencing our leaders in the capitol to let down the present bars of immigration.

I am certainly glad to see that you are interested in the welfare of the American people. I sincerely believe, as does the majority of the American public, that the present immigration law should not be modified in any respect, because by doing so the millions of foreign immigrants who would suddenly come amongst us would greatly lower the living standards of the great masses of our American people.

KEEP UP THE BARS.
Chicago, March 1.—I noticed on the front page of today's TRIBUNE an article exposing the organizations which are maintaining high salaried representatives and lobbyists in Washington for the purpose of influencing our leaders in the capitol to let down the present bars of immigration.

I am certainly glad to see that you are interested in the welfare of the American people. I sincerely believe, as does the majority of the American public, that the present immigration law should not be modified in any respect, because by doing so the millions of foreign immigrants who would suddenly come amongst us would greatly lower the living standards of the great masses of our American people.

A STATE BIRD.
Chicago, March 4.—In choosing a state bird for Illinois, a number of things should be considered. The bird should not be a bird questionable in its habits, but should be economically valuable, attractive in form and color, familiar to people generally, popular and likable. It should be as typical of the state and its conditions as possible.

No one bird can fulfill all these conditions ideally, and not all are of equal importance, but the bird selected should come as near satisfying all these items as possible, as would the Bob White (quail) or meadowlark. BIRD LOVER.

POLICE HOPE TO SEIZE HARVESTER ROBBERS TODAY

Two Suspects in $80,000 Holdup to Surrender.

Police expect to have in custody by tonight at least two of the night bandits who on Friday robbed the International Harvester company plant on 31st street of $80,000 in pay roll funds. It was intimated at the detective bureau yesterday. The company has posted rewards totaling $60,000 for the arrest of the robbers.

The identities of the pair sought were not revealed by the police, but it was learned yesterday that a search being made for "Three Fingers" and "White and Thomas Shupe, both known to police as gangsters.

Suspected in Other Crimes.
The name of "Three Fingers" Jack White has been brought into the investigation of several crimes during the last year. He is said to have been in a shooting affray at the Mannheim in last fall in which a gangster and a Forest Park policeman were killed.

Two other suspects whom police have been endeavoring to round up since the Harvester robbery will be delivered to Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker at the detective bureau today, according to a message relayed yesterday through their counsel, Attorney George Hane. These are James Gentile, 1149 Hamilton avenue, whose automobile the police suspect was used by the bandits in making their escape, and James McManus, 3246 Harrison street.

Photographs Are Identified.
Harvester employees on Saturday picked out the photographs of both Gentile and McManus at the bureau of identification as resembling two of the bandits.

Peter Gusenberg, alias Gorman, of the Morrison hotel, and his brother, Frank, 303 North Clark street, are still being held, although all efforts so far to connect them with the crime have failed. Both were armed when arrested and they will be arraigned today on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

EASTER SILKS FROM "FIELD'S"

Silks for your Easter gown! Whether elaborate or not it should be fashioned of the newest and loveliest of the season's weaves. Such a tradition dates from our great-granddames, who rustled gloriously each Easter. And this year rustlings are quite in vogue in quaint pompadours, plaids of the Scottish clans, the MacLeods, the MacBeths, the Black Watch, or in plain Taffetas.

Extremely modish are the novelties, Surahs, Rajahs, Hindu crepes, and in contrast the smart plain Silks in every weave and color. Printed Silks, lovelier than ever, come in dots, geometric shapes and small floral patterns. Many are in new borders.

WHAT'S NEW AT "FIELD'S"—how even to suggest it when a column can touch only a few of the highlights, when a page can do little more for the wealth of new things every day brings. But if you will look carefully over today's news you will see the latest authentic developments in coats, suits, gowns, hats, shoes, accessories and fabrics—and you will realize, too, how easily you can choose a complete harmonious wardrobe at one time under one hospitable roof, where the selections are new, correct, and extensive.

DIVIDING HONORS THIS SPRING

COATS with Capes and Coats without—the number of authentic models in each type makes choosing perfectly simple after you have decided which is most becoming to you. The cape-coat pictured is of a glorious imported plaid in gold, blue, tangerine and green with dusky kit fox collar—the lining is gold crepe banded with rose, $195. Then there are checked and bordered homespuns with wing capes, circular capes, or double capes. Quite as charming is the natural kasha cheviot with its boyish box plaits, novel yoke and gold kid belt. $145.

SUITS—the three-piece mannish O'Rossen or the flaring Ensemble. This season there's a place in your dress program for both types, so utterly different are they in design and intent. For the severely tailored daytime activities you could hardly better the new O'Rossen, with frilled satin blouse and black moire waistcoat. Navy and black. $135. For afternoon the Ensemble is lovely—charmeuse coat, just swirling into a flare, with silk hand-braided frock. $97.50.

SCALLOPS AND PLAITS

—Prove the Newness of This Frock

The mirror very pleasantly reveals certain features of the back of this afternoon Gown; difficult to describe adequately in words. Of crepe du jour in bois de rose, navy or black, it both scallops and plaits the three-tiered apron in front, satisfied with flat, curved tiers in back. The antique filet, gold-threaded, which Callot is using so much, appears in the collar—note the point in back—and in the smart puffed sleeves. $115. Many other new afternoon Gowns reproduce as subtly the nuances of the Parisian mode.

The vogue for reptilian leathers finds expression in these new Aristo slippers. Silver deftly combined with blue, gold with green, black with white, gives a delightfully neutral effect. INDUSTRIAL MEN SEE U. S. PERIL IN FARM RADICALS

New York, March 7.—(AP)—Radical tendencies among the farmers, who once were the backbone of American conservatism, reflects a serious economic maladjustment which, unless checked, must adversely affect the national business structure, says the national industrial conference board in a report issued today.

The report, based on a year's investigation, says the agrarian swing to be "one of the most significant reversals in the political life of the United States" and "curiously contrasts with the increasing conservative trend of our urban population."

Urges Study of Farm Problems.

The board, which is supported by manufacturing, mining, transportation, and public utility industries, asserted that its sponsors must study and understand the problem of the farmer, because farm production is closely woven in the national economic structure.

Diffusion of corporate ownership among city dwellers had increased materially the interest in and understanding of industrial problems, the board said, while the average farm represents a capital of about $12,000, usually individually owned, and the farmers, to a large degree unorganized and isolated, "naturally have tended more and more to resort to political pressure to obtain relief."

Expenses Rise, Prices Lag.

The farmers' weakened position in meeting foreign competition was attributed to the tendency of his expenses to rise more rapidly than the prices of his produce. Overhead capital costs, labor, and operating costs rose 300 per cent in the last quarter century, the report said, while wholesale prices of farm products increased only 120 per cent.

Actual earnings of the average farmer in 1924 were computed at $750, as against average earnings of $1,572 in transportation, $2,141 in clerical lines, and $1,650 by government employees. The per capita income of the farming population in 1921 was given as $185, against $701 for urban dwellers.

GERMANS PLAN HAMBURG-N. Y. AIR TRIP IN 10 HOURS

High Altitude Flying Secret of Scheme.

BERLIN, March 7.—(AP)—A ten to twelve hours' air service between Hamburg and New York is the aim of a newly formed scientific research society for aviation in higher altitudes, known as the "Gesellschaft Für Höhenflugforschung," established here.

By finding a means of flying at an altitude of from six to seven miles the scientists of the society hope to solve the transoceanic aviation problem. It is pointed out that in the lower atmospheric regions airplanes are seriously hampered by vertical squalls, fog, and thunder clouds, to which are added, off the American coast, blizzards, hurricanes, and cyclones, none of which occurs in the higher strata. It is expected also that such an altitude would increase the speed of airplanes to 270 miles or more an hour.

The society is planning to investigate atmospheric conditions several miles above the earth by means of a specially constructed combination of flying laboratory and observatory. The pilot would be installed in a specially heated cabin and the members of the expedition clothed in suits to protect them against cold and intensified rays of the sun in the rarefied atmosphere.

INTENDED VICTIMS ROB. JAIL THREE BAD BOY BANDITS

Starting out on a career of bold banditry early yesterday, Nathan Hall, 16 years old, Randolph Wilson, 15, and George Passmore, 17, all colored, discovered that the life of a hold-up man is not always a happy one, and for three reasons:

They were robbed of $14 by one of their intended victims, a white man, who convinced them he, too, was a stickup man, joined them and then made away with the money taken from a second victim.

Carl Jones, 541 East 43d street, a third intended victim, drove a revolver and chased them several blocks into an apartment at 357 East 40th street, where he held them until the police came.

They were in cells last night charged with robbery.

Compare Qualities as well as prices before buying Oriental Rugs

There is a great difference in the quality of the rugs woven in the different parts of the Orient. There is a difference in the texture, in the coloring, in the wool, and in the design. And these things naturally determine their beauty, their wearing qualities—and their value.

Some districts in the Orient have for centuries been noted for the fine quality of their rugs while others merely turn out inferior products to sell at a price. So that price alone means very little.

A well woven, well designed Oriental Rug is surely entitled to be called "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," while, unfortunately, there are some rugs which cannot be expected to give satisfaction and which no one should buy.

For 41 years Pushman's Oriental Rugs have been noted for their quality and character. For unless we know that a rug can be depended upon, we won't handle it. The rugs you see in this store are all "carefully selected" from those woven in the districts noted for fine quality.

Hence one can buy rugs with Confidence here—whether they know anything about rugs or not.

This might sound as though our prices must necessarily be high. It is true that no one can sell Oriental Rugs of the finer qualities at the prices for which inferior rugs are sometimes offered.

But it is equally true that, quality considered, our prices are usually less than you must pay elsewhere.

Unusual Values in Small Sized Rugs

Among our latest importations are several hundred beautiful Belouchistan Rugs, of selected qualities, in rich shades of blues and reds. A fortunate purchase permits us to price them low.

ARGUMENTS ON TODAY IN LAKE DIVERSION SUIT

Supreme Court to Hear Illinois Plea.

Washington, D. C., March 7.—(Special.)—Oral argument on the petition of the state of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, and Pennsylvania for an injunction to restrain further diversion of Lake Michigan water into the Chicago sanitary district drainage canal will be heard by the United States Supreme court tomorrow.

Joined with Illinois and the sanitary district in defending the withdrawal of the lake water for sanitary as well as other purposes are the states of Missouri, Kentucky, Mississippi, and Louisiana, who were granted permission to intervene in the suit as defendants by the court.

Attorneys general of the four Mississippi valley states are expected to appear tomorrow with Attorney General Clegg of Illinois, James M. Beck, former federal solicitor general; Hector A. Brouillette, counsel for the sanitary district; and the latter's associates, George F. Barrett, Edmund D. Adcock, Louis J. Behan, and Morton S. Cressy.

Independent action to halt the diversion was taken by Michigan a few days ago in a petition filed by Andrew B. Dougherty, attorney general of that state, seeking an injunction on the grounds that Michigan has a proprietary interest in the lake waters and that neither congress nor the war department has any right to authorize the diversion of water from one water shed into another for any reason.

Much the same contention is advanced by the states of Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Pennsylvania, who in their petitions assert that the diversion of water through the Chi-

ENFORCER OF TRUST LAWS RESIGNS POST; WILL PRACTICE LAW

Washington, D. C., March 7.—(Special.)—The resignation of Roger Shale, a special assistant attorney general for the enforcement of anti-trust laws, to take effect immediately, was announced tonight by Attorney General Clegg.

Mr. Shale, it is said, will engage in the practice of law in Washington, and in addition serve as a trustee of Coca-Cola Co., an anthracite coal producing company, under appointment of the federal district court of the southern district of New York.

In the latter capacity he will succeed the late Thomas R. Marshall, former Vice President of the United States.

Mr. Shale was appointed an assistant attorney general in 1919.

Chicago drainage canal has resulted in a lowering of great lakes levels sufficient greatly to injure lake shipping and lake harbors.

In their intervening petitions the four Mississippi valley states have asserted identical interests with those of Illinois and the drainage district in an uninterrupted flow of water from the lake as a means of diluting Chicago district sewage to prevent disease epidemics and as a necessity if the proposed lakes to gulf waterway is ever to be realized.

As you know, we have elected to use The Telegram for advertising of food products and we cannot speak too highly of the fine cooperation our clients have received. We do not see how any home-maker can fail to like these pages and their interest means better results for the advertisers in The Telegram.

It is good of you to give me details of your plans for the Food Bureau of The New York Telegram.

The Telegram is to be congratulated not only upon this service but upon its very marked improvement in the direction of producing a newspaper of wide public interest.

I just opened this evening's Telegram and saw the recipe supplied by Miss Mary Lewis. I should think that the offering of recipes in this manner would get a reading from a good many women who do not ordinarily look to their newspapers for such information.

In my opinion, your editorial feature of Favorite Recipes of Famous Women shows a most aggressive policy on the part of the publishers of The Telegram, one which will naturally result in more advertising from food advertisers.

I have been especially attracted by your bright, new feature, the series of Favorite Recipes of Famous Women. A wide reader-interest should logically follow. And my advice to food manufacturers is to keep a sharp eye on The Telegram Food Bureau. The New York Telegram, in the experience of myself and family during the past six years, is one of the most interesting and best edited newspapers in the country.

The

New York Telegram's Food Bureau

HERE are eight letters that prove it—impressive evidence that advertising men, who have had extensive experience in the advertising and merchandising of foods and other products of direct feminine appeal, are coming more and more to recognize the value of The New York Telegram's ably conducted Food Bureau and wonderfully complete 2-page Household Section.

The Telegram is the market-place where the FOOD BUYERS go. And in getting buying action for Telegram food advertisers, it goes to great lengths to keep its food-buying readers keenly interested.

Distinctive New Feature—STUDY IT!

To the already powerful reader-influence of The Telegram's Household Section has lately been added a notable new attraction—Favorite Recipes of Famous Women. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Mrs. D. Curtis Wilbur, Mary Pickford, Jane Cowl, Olga Petrova, Mary Austin, Dorothy Canfield Fisher are among the many notable contributors.

This feature is attracting widespread, favorable attention among New York women. It presents a rare opportunity to manufacturers of Home Products to capture this reader-interest.

It is a typical example of the practical reader service that is continually building an enthusiastic, eagerly responsive food-buying army of regular readers for The Telegram.

More than 5,000 letters received during the past few months show the vital grip that The Telegram's Household Section has on New York women, and amply justify The Telegram as a productive medium for food-product manufacturers.

Put The Telegram on your 1926 list. It logically belongs there.

FABRIC OCCASION • SPRING 1926 •

The first fashion event of a new season —giving it its theme, providing its substance for modes of character and taste.

Silks—no repetition or monotony dims their colorful, patterned way. Here gossamer sheer chiffons carry the imprint of fashion in gorgeous designs, there, soft silks, the old-time patterns. The youthful charm there is in taffetas, the quiet elegance of rich crepe-satins are made vivid in these displays.

Wool fabrics—grow in the favor of the mode. Twilled or suede-like, they are supple—expressive of the softened line of the silhouette which rules.

Cotton fabrics—make the most of color, abloom with brilliant blossoms or bright with clever modernistic motifs.
And laces etch a delicate tracery all about with their filmy threads.

PART TWO SPORTS MARKETS

BILL EDWARDS HAGEN SWAMPS JONES, 12 AND 11; POCKETS $6,800

And Bobby Gets the Glory, if Any.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7.—(Special.)—Walter Hagen completed the protracted assassination of Bobby Jones about 3:30 this afternoon when he nudged a ten yard putt into the hole on the sixty-first green of the seventy-two hole challenge match between the best American professional golfer and the noblest of the amateurs.

This stroke gave Hagen the match, 12 and 11 and they were shooting their game over a shore line expanse something like the dunes fields of the Indiana lake front. The traps are lined with sand as fine as powder and the wind pressed in from the green Gulf of Mexico to beat the drive out of line.

The caddy needs a smattering of seamanship too because the architect poured fourteen lagoons into the real estate and the magnetic attraction between deep water and well meant tee shots is too well known to require a parenthetical essay here.

Hagen Sinks 70 Foot Putt.
Jones found Hagen in his way whenever he tried to tighten his game and the start of the morning round must have tried his optimism. They began this day's play with Hagen eight up and after they had halved the first hole, Hagen traced a straight line seventy feet across the green to sink his putt for a three at the second. Jones had a par four, but it was not exactly concerning a short end.

They divided the long third hole and the fourth. Hagen was twenty feet away on the green and Bobby must have felt that here he would win back one of the lost nine holes. But Hagen tapped the twenty footer down and again they divided.

At the fourteenth, Bobby's first putt was three inches shy and he was only six inches away at the fifteenth. On the next two holes a little more precision or firmness with his soft game might have reeled in some of Hagen's expanding lead.

Jones Better, but Not Good Enough.
Jones was shooting much better golf than he did in the first thirty-six holes of the match on his own subdivision in Sarasota, but Hagen was shooting a 59 in the morning, which was three under par, whereas Bobby's card was 73. Hagen was eight under four for the entire sixty-one holes and five under par for the match alone.

Hagen got eighteen hundred dollars for the round at Jones' place last Sunday and his total of $5,800 for the sixty-one holes of competition is a new record high for this sort of professional sport talent.

Jones wanted no part of the money, and the fact is that he took the match partly as a favor to Hagen, who realized that it would be a handsome deal for the professional.

Benjamin Namm, a New York department store owner, bought up the site for the Pasadena match by guaranteeing Hagen $5,000, intending to turn over to the St. Petersburg hospital any profit that might be found in the box office after the costs have been paid.

Hagen Stings With Putts.
Hagen was twelve up at lunch time and he won the first hole of the afternoon round. He took two putts off the second and Bobby halved it with him. Jones steadied and held off the inevitable on the next one and he won back a hole at the fourth, with a three to Hagen's four. Advancing to the seventh hole, Jones had to win to stay in the match, and he rolled down a thirty foot putt that gave him a momentary hope. Then Hagen crouched, scanned the line of his putt and tapped his ball thirty feet into the well for a half and the championship.

Hagen didn't take three putts on his hole until the eighth of today's morning round, and the only other time he took more than two was at the twelfth.

HOFF CONFIDENT HE'LL CLEAR BAR AT 14 FEET—PLUS

Norway's Eagle "Booked Solid" Until June.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
Charles Hoff, who established a new world's indoor record of 13 feet 4 1/2 inches for the pole vault in the National A. A. U. indoor track and field championships held at the Chicago Riding club Saturday night, expects to clear the bar at 14 feet before he returns to Norway in July.

In his last five appearances the Norwegian has bettered his own world's indoor records and he has cleared the bar by at least four inches in making his new mark Saturday night. He was satisfied with the performance and did not attempt a higher height, as he intends to better the record every time he appears indoors until he clears 14 feet.

Hoff has outlined a campaign which will keep him busy until he sails for his native land in July. The Norwegian left yesterday for Baltimore to resume training for the all around competition with Harold Osborn of the I. A. C. and Emerson Norton and Tony Plinsky of Georgetown university in the Knights of Columbus games in New York City March 18.

Vaults with Barnes on Coast.
After this meet Hoff will go to Los Angeles, where he will meet Los Angeles of the University of Southern California, who recently cleared 13 feet 5 1/2 inches in an outdoor meet. On his return from Los Angeles Hoff will stop off at Lawrence April 17, where he will give an exhibition at the annual outdoor relay carnival of the University of Kansas. The next week he will give an exhibition at the Drake relays in Des Moines, Ia.

Hoff's vaulting was a revelation to many of the west's leading coaches. All attribute his marvelous ability to the strength in his arms and his faultless takeoff. Hoff, who is a better than average sprinter, tears down the runway at full speed. He never chucks his stride and has the takeoff timed perfectly. He has perfect control of himself in the air and releases the pole with apparent ease.

Tall but Slender.
The Norwegian is 26 years of age and is more than six feet tall, slender and sinewy. He uses a bamboo pole seventeen feet long, which he guards carefully. The pole is wrapped with black electric tape before every performance, and afterward is carefully stored in a long aluminum case with locks at both ends. This case is fifteen feet long and five inches in diameter.

Hoff uses two feet of the pole for balance. This two feet can be unjointed, but the vaulter's hands never reach it. In his record breaking effort Hoff asserted his upmost hand was 12 feet 6 inches high on the pole, which is very light but strong enough to carry Charles's 175 pounds around town.

The Norwegian is seriously contemplating entering Northwestern university to study journalism. He is writing for a syndicate at the present time and is interested in the work. It developed yesterday Hoff will be among the party of some 300 students of the Purple institution who will leave for Norway July 3 for research work.

Among these will be Dick Howell, former Purple nator, who will make an effort to swim the English channel. Corbett, Brewer, and Manovitz, former members of the Northwestern, are going to make the trip, also will make the trip. Hoff expects to return with the Purple delegation and matriculate at Northwestern in the fall.

Pipp Refuses to Report;
Reds May Cancel Deal.
St. Petersburg, Fla., March 7.—(Special.)—Wally Pipp has formally notified President Garry Herrmann of the Reds that he will not report unless the New York Yankees pay him a part of the purchase money received from Cincinnati.

On hearing the news Herrmann is reported to have declared that he will demand that the Yankees cancel the deal and return the $25,000 or so paid for Pipp.

In the mornings the Cubs will return to Catalina for more routine training and when they come back next Friday, Manager McCarthy may have some releases to announce. He must give a player to Los Angeles and another to the Reds and each will have to take an infielder or outfielder as there are no pitchers or catchers to dispose of at this time.

Tolson Hitting the Ball.
Among those present in the new lineup was Senator Tolson, the ponderous boy who can hit the ball. He sat in at first base for Grimm and proved three of the nine hits made by the major leaguers. One was a triple with the bases filled in the first inning. The Los Angeles club would like to snare him, but Boss McCarthy is not turning loose any real hitters. He hadn't better, because he'll need 'em.

Another gentleman who played a major role in the Cub attack was Sparky Adams. Sparky proved such a miniature target that in his first three trips to the plate he walked. Then he came through with two hits, both in the same inning. He started a rally with a single in the seventh and doubled when he batted again. The chapter netted the Cubs six runs and wiped out a 5 to 4 lead held by the Reds.

Back to Catalina.
Among the 5,000 spectators, some of whom paid, was William Veck, president of the Cubs, who arrived here from Chicago at 2 o'clock. He watched his National league entry perform and then said nothing beyond the fact that Russell Pence, a hold-out pitcher, had been returned to the Dallas Tex. team.

In the mornings the Cubs will return to Catalina for more routine training and when they come back next Friday, Manager McCarthy may have some releases to announce. He must give a player to Los Angeles and another to the Reds and each will have to take an infielder or outfielder as there are no pitchers or catchers to dispose of at this time.

GAMES THIS WEEK.
Tonight—Illinois at Minnesota; Ohio State at Iowa; Northwestern at Michigan.
Tuesday—Wisconsin at Indiana.
Saturday—Iowa at Minnesota.

Four teams have chances to tie for the basketball championship of the Western conference, as the race enters its last week with three games to-night. The final game of the season will be Saturday night, when Iowa invades the Minnesota gym.

Purdue university players, who finished their season Saturday night, have clinched at least a share of the Big Ten basketball championship. Three other teams, Indiana, Michigan, and Iowa, have chances to tie with the Boilermakers, the Hoosiers and Wolverines, having only one more tilt each to win, while the Hawkeyes have the more difficult task of trouncing Ohio State and Minnesota.

Capt. George Spradling of Purdue will lead the conference in scoring, having accumulated 107 points with 49 baskets and 31 penalty tosses. He has no more games, but since Cunningham of Ohio State has only 95 points, with only one more battle ahead, it's unlikely that he'll pass the Boilermaker's mark, and that Spradling's total will top the list for the season. Leading scorers follow:

FITZ LEAVES FOR BENTON HARBOR; FANS TALK FIGHT

Floyd Fitzsimmons, who claims to have the signed contracts of Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills and who intimated that the champion and challenger will meet at River View Park for the world's heavyweight title in September, left yesterday morning for his home in Benton Harbor. Reports that Fitz has tied up with the Coliseum A. C. and that the match will be held in Chicago caused comment in local boxing circles. Some believe the Coliseum A. C. will put over the match and that Fitzsimmons will share in the profits if he does not sell it outright. Dempsey left for the coast last Saturday night.

MOON MULLINS—AS A SURGEON OSCAR IS A GOOD SKIPPER

Scare for Miss Wills, but She Defeats Spanish Champ

BY DON SKENE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright: 1926: By The Chicago Tribune.)

MENTON, March 7.—Senorita Elia de Alvarez, the slashing Spanish champion, caused a lot of excitement at the Menton tennis club today when she forced Miss Helen Wills, playing below her usual sparkling form, to a desperate game before the American champion won, 6-4, 2-4, in the single final.

The Spanish senorita, hailed as the most likely conqueror of Miss Lenglen when she (P. & A. Photo.) made her Riviera debut three years ago, held the lead over Miss Wills three times in the first set and twice in the second.

Helen in Brilliant Rally.
Miss Wills' admirers, sitting nervously on the edge of their seats, were greatly relieved when she staged brilliant rallies at the end of each set, which brought a victory.

In the finals of the international mixed doubles play this afternoon the French team of Henri Cochet and Mlle. Didi Vlasto repeated yesterday's victory over Miss Wills and J. H. Van Allen by defeating the American pair, 6-2, 6-2.

Surprise to Experts.
This decisive French triumph surprised many experts, for the Americans battled M. Cochet and Mlle. Vlasto through three bitterly contested sets before losing yesterday's game.

Miss Wills will move her campaign to Nice tomorrow for a week's tournament at Mlle. Suzanne's home club.

WISCONSIN AND ILLINOIS LEAGUE CARD DISCUSSED

The Wisconsin-Illinois Baseball association, a combination of the Wisconsin league and the Chicago Midwest league, held its third meeting of the season at the Planters hotel yesterday, at which a tentative schedule was drawn. O. A. Krogs of Sheboygan, Wis., is president of the organization while Fred Clithero has been named secretary.

The association proposes to conduct a championship series of games between the teams of the two leagues. The teams are: Sheboygan, Racine, Madison, and Kenosha make up the Wisconsin half of the Wisconsin-Illinois circuit, while the local half of the league is composed of Niles's Pyrites, Logan Squares, and St. Michaels of Chicago and Hammond, Ind.

A preliminary schedule was talked over and the Harwood National league double cover ball was adopted by the league magnates for use in all championship games.

CRESCENTS, 6; ROAMERS, 3.
The Hamlin Crescent indoor baseball team handed the Austin Roamers a 6 to 3 setback for its twenty-sixth win of the season last night at the Hamlin gym yesterday. Nick Gormley struck out sixteen of the Roamers. Score: Crescents, 6; Roamers, 3. Gormley, 10; 100 000—3 8 0. Batteries: Gormley and Janowski, Sellers and Sturm.

Big Ten Stars on Edge for Indoor Games

Track and field athletes of the Big Ten will start on the final lap of training today for the western conference indoor championships at Patten gym, Northwestern university, on Saturday night. Trials in the quarter and half mile runs will be held Friday night.

This year's event has attracted a banner entry, according to K. E. Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern, who has received the nominations, which closed Saturday at midnight. All the Big Ten schools will be represented. The struggle for team honors appears to rest between Iowa, Ohio State, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin. The Badgers won the four cornered meet with Chicago, Northwestern, and Ohio State, while Illinois defeated Iowa in a dual set of games.

In the Illinois relay Michigan showed strength in the middle distance runs and dash events. Illinois will be strong in the hurdles with Werner, and the same is true of Ohio State with Capt. Guthrie. Iowa has a certain first place winner in Capt. Dauber in the shot put and its team should win the mile relay. Members of this quartet should also gather points in the quarter mile.

Northwestern has a great runner in Capt. Martin in the half mile and Chicago will rely upon Cusack in the mile and Burg in the high jump. Northwestern, Chicago, Purdue, Indiana, and Minnesota, however, have not the team balance of the other five squads. Michigan won the meet last year after a close struggle with Wisconsin.

ALL-NATIONS BEATEN.

The All-Nations indoor baseball team suffered its worst beating of the year at the Drorak Park Reds gym yesterday, when the Drorak Park Reds won, 23 to 0.

CHICAGO MAY WHEAT IS ABOVE LIVERPOOL PRICE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

That bull news and bull theories, without adequate buying support, cannot advance a market value and sustain them at a high level was demonstrated last week, wheat breaking 16 1/2c for May from the high point of the previous week, and 90c from the top point of the season made at the close of last December.

The close of the week found leading holders out of their lines. Big eastern shorts who were aggressive sellers were covered. The market is said to be evened up, with a comparatively small speculative short interest in May wheat, outside of hedging sales, and prices 3/4c under a week ago.

The break has failed to bring a readjustment between May in Chicago and Liverpool, the latter being around 7 1/2c under Chicago on Saturday. Either prices in Chicago will have to decline or Liverpool advance to bring a complete readjustment and put Chicago on a shipping basis with Liverpool.

Comparative Values Out of Line.

Early last year, when May wheat in Chicago declined from $2.02 1/2 to the end of January to $1.36 1/2 early in April, when it was at the same time $1.36. Now it is around 7 1/2c under Chicago. Liverpool early last year was down to $1.62, when Chicago was around $1.36, and later Liverpool advanced to $1.90, and on last Saturday closed at $1.55, against $1.60 in Chicago.

The trade a week ago had the private reports on farm reserves, which averaged 91,000,000 bu of wheat, against 112,000,000 bu last year, with country mill and elevator stocks combined with farm reserves 168,000,000 bu, against 188,000,000 bu last year.

The official returns on farm reserves of mill and elevator stocks will be given by the government tomorrow at two o'clock, Chicago time. They may show a little less than private returns, according to some estimates, while others predict that the wheat crop last season was underestimated and should show larger.

May wheat closed Saturday at $1.55 1/2, 1.55 1/2, July $1.39 1/2, 1.39 1/2, September $1.23 1/2, 1.23 1/2. Prices for the week follow:

Corn and Hog Ratio.

The most significant feature in the big production of corn relative to a shortage in hog supplies is given by Nat C. Murray of Clement, Curtis company, who says that the supply of corn in proportion to live stock is the heaviest since 1900. The index number of corn consuming animals on farms in January and the corn crop makes a most interesting showing and is a factor in influencing trading. The live stock supply is given as 85, the corn crop 102, and the corn ration 120. This compares with 90, 81, and 91 last season, and 100, 107, and 107, respectively, two years ago.

The big shorts in corn are said to have covered. Country elevator stocks have been reduced so that the supply of corn back in the country is practically all on the farms and is represented in the private reports of farm reserves, which average 91,000,000 bu last year.

After selling at the lowest prices of the year, closing trades were at 10 1/2c, with May 78 1/2c, July 81 1/2c, September 83 1/2c. Prices for the week follow:

New Low on Oats.

Oat prices are down to the lowest of the season, with larger farm reserves, 555,000,000 against 550,000,000 bu last year. The market is largely a carryover concern, although stocks are declining. Net losses for the week were 1/2c, May closing at 40 1/2c, July 40c, and September 42c.

With rye prices down around the lowest of the year, the feature of the week was heavy covering by eastern shorts, who were also buyers of wheat and corn. Export business was better owing to the decline. Closing trades were at 8 1/2c for May, 8 1/2c for July, and 8 1/2c for September.

According to the provisions of the Deed of Trust, dated April 16, 1925, the following bonds of the Peoria-Taft Land Credit Company are called for payment as of April 15, 1926, and interest thereon will cease after that date:

CALLS BRITAIN BETTER OFF SINCE GREATEST WAR

BY HARPER LEECH.

From the looks of the newstands the old style success in life story is in vogue.

Maybe the press agents have overdone it, but not so elsewhere. One of the most interesting documents this writer has examined in many a day is a pamphlet being circulated in England, perhaps under the auspices of the steamship companies, to encourage emigration to the United States.

If you don't believe you are a citizen of the only bona fide Utopia, just read what they tell the British workman and professional man about us.

The wages reduced to pounds, shilling and pence and compared to the current British pay must look enticing. But the most interesting thing is the exposition of the greater opportunities to the emigrants of their present fortunes and the list of American business leaders, estimates of their recent fortunes and the account of their origins reminds one of Horatio Alger's heroes all over again. It all happens to be true, and it isn't commonplace to the outsider.

Why are the British not emigrating as formerly? Have they lost their pep? One can readily believe that of the dole birds and the Socialists, of course.

The real explanation of why the live ones stay at home, as never before, may lie in the fact that the capable Britisher has a bigger stake in the country than formerly—even though he has to carry on his back a greater number of his fellow subjects than ever before. While the middle and professional classes are heavily taxed, more people have money in Britain than formerly.

There, as here, the war initiated a great redistribution of wealth. Although there was not nearly so much in the dole, the redistribution probably has been relatively as great. One parliamentarian has said that before the war not half a million people in the country possessed over $500 apiece. Today half the adult population have savings averaging half that amount. Half the people own government securities, and the diffusion of ownership of private corporations is said to be relatively greater than among ourselves—as there are about 8,000,000 British owners and we figure that there are probably 15,000,000 here, a much smaller proportion of the population.

But, of course, Britain has few landholders to match against our millions of farmers and 12,000,000 or 13,000,000 home owners.

The chances are that Britain will not export many capable citizens to the United States, but, on the contrary, will import more American ideas. The swing to protection is evident. Britain even could now teach us a lot about how to exclude undesirable aliens without so much noise and friction. It is very likely that the lessons of the war will lead to yet greater preference for bona fide British sailors on British ships, and that the war has caused disaster in the submarine warfare.

The New York Times.

New York, March 7.—[Special.]—

The conclusion from last week's market, which no one is likely to dispute, is that speculative Wall street still is in a highly emotional mood. Its actions still are governed considerably more by impulse than by intelligent observation.

Last autumn the mere fact that a stock market was in the country had risen on an almost unprecedented scale commonly was accepted as a convincing reason why they should continue to rise indefinitely.

Reverse Their Fatalism.

Last week a decline of equally abnormal rapidity was taken as proof that nothing could check the fall of prices. The truth is that such a mental attitude and such hysterical rushing backward and forward proves nothing except that a peculiarly excited and ignorant community has been running amuck in the stock market ever since last summer.

Much was said, at the time of last November's preliminary downward reaction from the absurd heights to which prices had been carried, of the infatuation which the speculative "outside public" had displayed. But this turns out to have been a minor matter when compared with the infatuation of professional Wall street.

For sheer financial footlessness the conduct of the "pools" (which popularly are supposed to be managed by seasoned speculative experts) has probably had only one parallel in recent times, and that was their action in the period of financial illusions, the autumn of 1919 and the spring of 1920.

Looking back at that episode of half a dozen years ago, a kind of pitying astonishment is occasioned by the story of the pools with their eye fixed solely on "melons" and "melons," completely indifferent to the disordered money market and the trade horizon signs of a coming storm.

Even the formidable stock market reaction of November, 1919, when the New

United States Gypsum.

L. L. M., Fort Clinton, La.: United States Gypsum company earned $15.45 per share on its $10,138,900 common stock (par $20) outstanding in 1925, compared with $14.96 per share in 1924 on the $8,756,960 stock then outstanding. It is paying dividends at the rate of $1.60 per share per annum. In addition, it paid extras totaling $4 per share and a special dividend of 15 per cent in 1925. As of Dec. 31, 1925, its net working capital amounted to $13,015,252 and total surplus to $16,789,971, compared with net working capital of $10,999,797 and total surplus of $12,595,680 at the close of 1924. This is a high grade stock.

Eaton Axle and Spring.

C. F.: Eaton Axle and Spring company resumed dividend payments last August, placing its net par capital stock on a $2 per annum basis. The company earned $2.53 per share on its stock in 1925, against 85 cents per share in 1924. A five year contract with the Rockwell Sales and Manufacturing company covering their entire requirements of Rockwell axles for Ford cars, which the company announced last fall, is expected to add largely to Eaton's future business.

Earnings Show Increase.

Net earnings of the National Tea company for 1925 were $1,458,008 after all charges, federal taxes, and preferred dividends, equal to $5.72 a share on the 100,000 shares of no par common stock outstanding, according to the annual report issued last night by George Rasmussen, president. This compares with $1,382,934 in 1924, which was equal to $27.48 a share on 50,000 shares then outstanding. Current assets totaled $7,121,721, compared with current liabilities of $2,870,723. In 1924 total current assets were $5,527,467, against current liabilities of $3,357,751. During 1925 the company added 103 new stores to its string, bringing the total to 754 as of Dec. 31, 1925. Sales for the year were $47,400,885, against $39,068,829 in 1924.

Brief Answers.

D. W. X., Kalamazoo, Mich.: The Eastern Michigan Edison company first reaction 5 per cent bonds of 1931 are a sound investment.

D. S., Sturgeon Bay, Wis.: The Manitowoc, Green Bay and North Western railway first mortgage 5 1/2s of 1941 are a sound investment.

G. M. C., Aurora, Ill.: The Western Union Telegraph company fifteen year 6 1/2s of 1936 are a sound investment. They are not callable.

York reserve bank advanced its discount rate, and the speculative camp followers angrily demanded congressional "investigation" of the reserve board, failed to teach that day's speculative adventures their lesson.

They came back into the market a few weeks later with an even more reckless and furious bidding-up program, thus deliberately inviting the reckoning which they presently had to meet.

U. S. OFFERS LONG TERM BONDS OF $500,000,000

Washington, D. C., March 7.—[Special.]—The treasury has again turned to long term securities in carrying out its program of debt retirement and refunding, and tonight announced an offering of twenty-three year 3 1/2 per cent bonds as the means of meeting its requirements.

The issue, dated March 15 and maturing in 1949-50, will be for $500,000,000 or thereabouts, and will be offered at 100 1/2. It is the first long term operation since 1922, and its effect on the market is awaited with more than usual interest.

In announcing the issue, Secretary Mellon called attention to the fact that the treasury already had invited sales direct from holders of $100,000,000 in third Liberty loan bonds for use in the cumulative sinking fund, while about $618,000,000 in treasury four year notes mature as of March 15.

There will be some additional cash required also to meet minor interest payments, so that, altogether, the treasury must take care of about three-quarters of a billion dollars in outgo during the month of March.

The March operation is expected to reduce the outstanding amount of federal securities by about $225,000,000. The treasury will accept maturing treasury notes in payment for the new issue, but Mr. Mellon emphasized that there would be no preference given such subscriptions.

RUBBER AND OIL REPORTS SIGN OF U. S. PROSPERITY

Continuance of prosperous conditions in the rubber and petroleum industries is predicted in the annual reports of the United States Rubber company and the Phillips Petroleum company.

Sales last year were $206,473,737, an increase of more than $34,000,000 over 1924. Inventories at the end of the year were $80,621,793, an increase of about $18,000,000.

Best Year in Its History.
The Phillips Petroleum company had the best year in its history. Net production of gasoline was 119,852,102 gallons, compared with 62,501,127 in 1924, although production of oil was 9,296,861 bbls, compared with 9,355,759.

"During the year the company materially expanded and improved its position in all divisions," President Phillips says. "Average prices received for crude oil and natural gasoline were better than in 1924, and present prices are higher than in 1925. Consumption of crude and total products exceeds production, and underlying conditions of the industry generally are better than

"The reduction in stocks and increase in prices which this condition has developed promise to continue. Crude oil stocks of the company were 4,784,576 bbls on Dec. 31. At the average prices at which we now are selling this grade of oil the added value would be in excess of $3,000,000."

Surplus Over $7,000,000.
Net income was $12,329,623 last year after all charges, including depletion and depreciation. This was equivalent to $6.46 a share on the average capital stock outstanding during the year. After dividends there was a surplus of $7,699,-18. Net income for 1924 was $7,160,-80, equivalent to $4.59 a share, and surplus after dividends was $3,831,816.

REPORTS SIGN OF U. S. PROSPERITY

BY O. A. MATHER.

Continuance of prosperous conditions in the rubber and petroleum industries is predicted in the annual reports of the United States Rubber company and the Phillips Petroleum company.

"The company closed the year in a strong financial position, and as to inventories of finished goods and raw materials, including forward commitments, is in a favorable position," Chairman Seger of the United States Rubber company says. "Inventories of finished goods were valued at cost of production, which in all cases was substantially below cost of replacement at market prices for raw materials. Inventories of raw materials and supplies were valued at cost prices which were materially below market prices."

Sales last year were $206,473,737, an increase of more than $34,000,000 over 1924. Inventories at the end of the year were $30,821,793, an increase of about $18,000,000.

Profits Still Larger.

Net Income for 1925 was $17,809,879 after all charges and taxes, but this does not include profits or accumulated surplus of subsidiary plantation companies. The company appropriated $2,000,000 to be applied against cost of crude rubber to be received this year. Net income before this appropriation and after preferred dividends was equivalent to $14.91 a share on the common stock, and after the appropriation to $11.51 a share.

No common dividends were paid and $9,082,353 was carried to surplus, which now stands at $41,061,685 after a write-off of $2,007,242 for final adjustment of inventory applicable to previous years.

The balance sheet on Dec. 31, 1925, showed current assets of $14,192,756, including $24,415,835; plant, investments, etc., $15,881,487, unchanged; other assets, $15,528,620, decrease $2,810,562; current liabilities, $29,426,756, decrease $14,370,853; funded debt, $112,120,800, increase $25,042,000; reserves, $5,522,563, increase $2,714,610.

Best Year in Its History.

The Phillips Petroleum company had the best year in its history. Net production of gasoline was 119,852,102 gallons, compared with $2,501,127 in 1924, although production of oil was 9,294,861 bbls, compared with 9,355,759.

During the year the company materially expanded and improved its position in all divisions," President Phillips says. "Average prices received for crude oil and natural gasoline were better in 1925 than in 1924, and present prices are higher than in 1925. Consumption of crude and total products exceeds production, and underlying conditions of the industry generally are better than for several years."

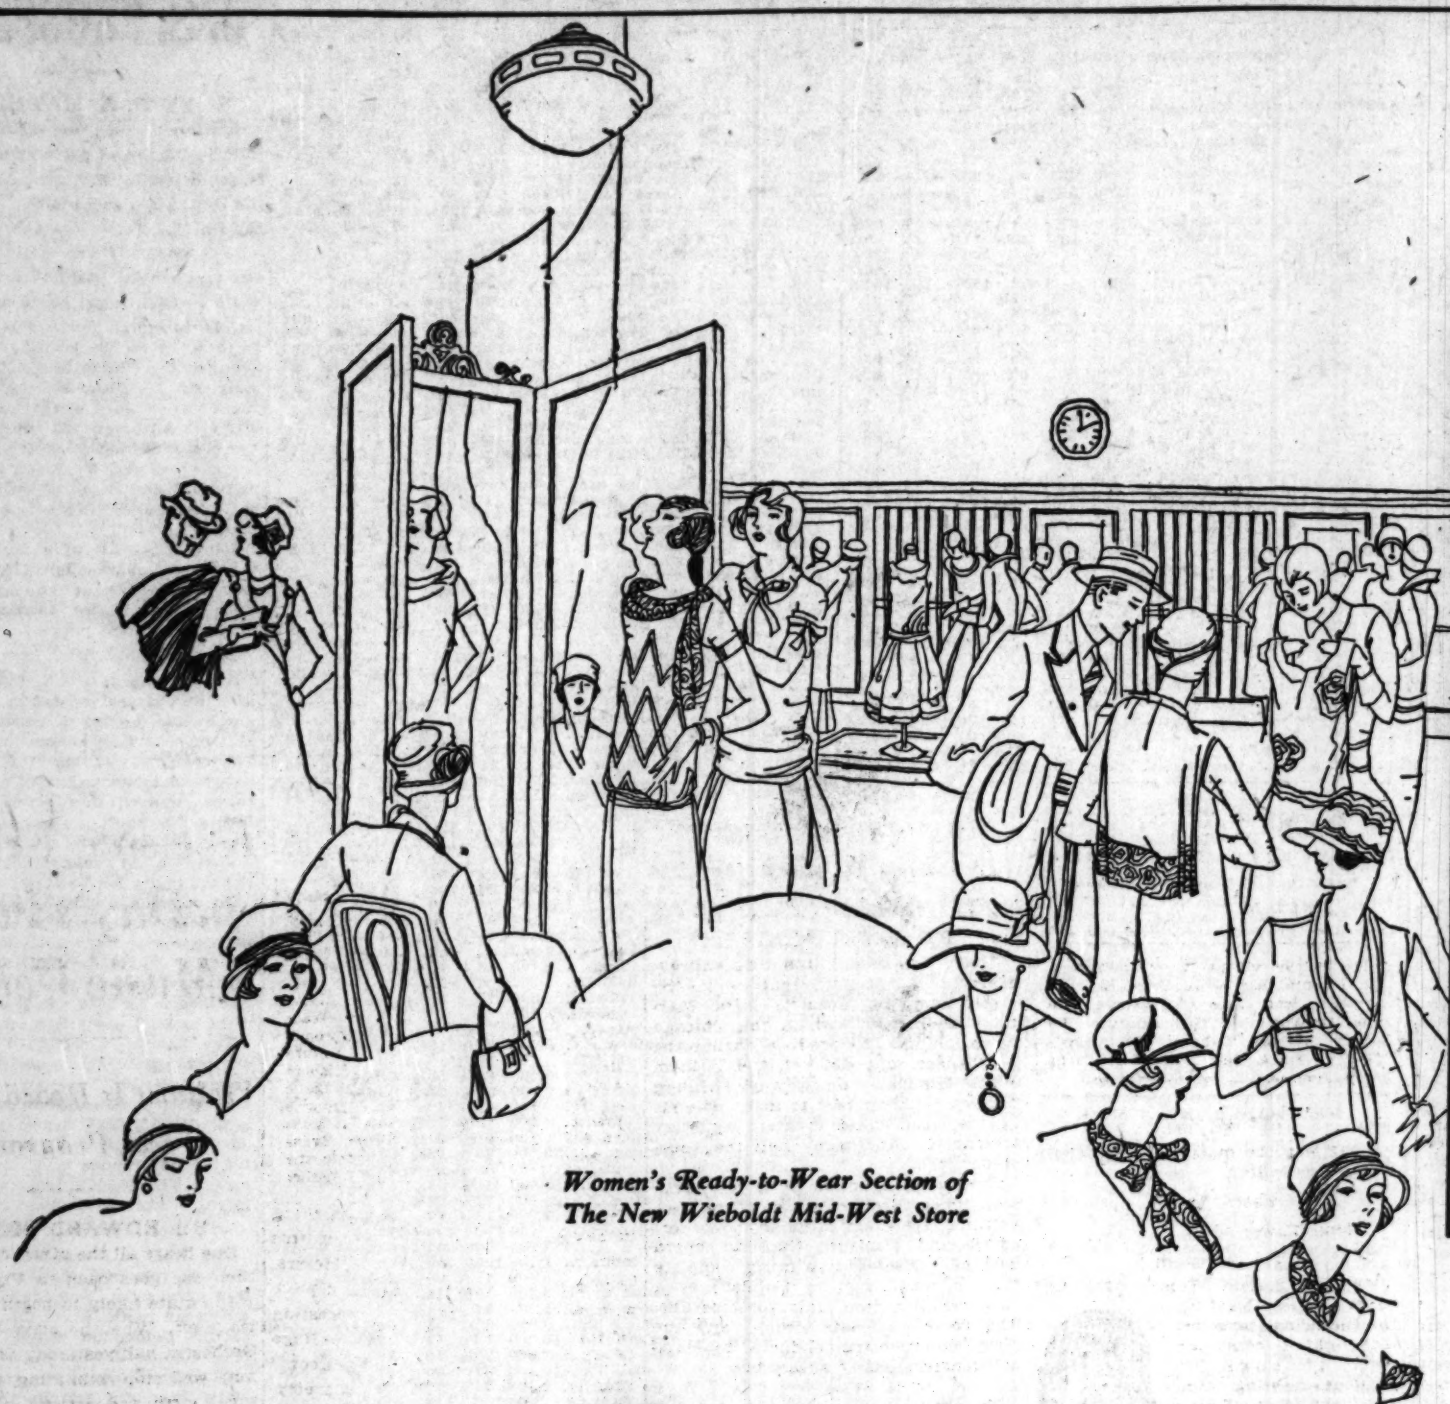

"The reduction in stocks and increase in prices which this condition has developed promise to continue. Crude oil production of the company were 4,754,678 bbls on Dec. 31. At the average prices at which we now are selling this grade of oil the added value would be in excess of $3,000,000."

Surplus Over $7,000,000.

Net Income was $12,329,623 last year after all charges, including depletion and depreciation. This was equivalent to $6.46 a share on the average capital stock outstanding during the year. After dividends there was a surplus of $7,699,416. Net income for 1924 was $7,160,780, equivalent to $4.59 a share, and surplus after dividends was $2,631,816.

Thornhill Broomes Building House on New England Coast

The Thornhill Broomes of 2340 Lincoln Park West, are in the throes of an interesting and thrilling problem. They are going to build a new house, and what with all the difficulties they are encountering in the matter of getting things just right, they are afraid they may not see the finished product until late next fall. Of course, they've chosen Cape Cod, where they go every summer, for their new place, and they've selected Osterville, a beautiful little resort on the east side of the cape, for their location.

Mrs. Broomes won't have that the house is to be large, but she says, "When you start planning enough money for everybody, it can't be very small." And it will have to be very small, too, to accommodate the broomes' hospitable tendencies. One of their friends has a guest as to the type of house it will be: "It'll probably be very simple on the outside, and inside will be every convenience and every imaginable. And with Mrs. Broomes' exquisite taste, it'll probably be something."

Mrs. Broomes' parents, the John Allen Broomes, are just as much attached to this quaint little town as she and her family are. They've taken the same house they had last year, and the Broomes will be close by to watch the process and progress of the building.

The ancient and honorable art, or science of sewing, which has been a source of support among society women here in the last year, is daily attracting new devotees. The Averill Tilden and the Louis Tilden of Evanston are among the latest to add themselves to the ranks of the sewing society. Mrs. Edmund Clermont's sewing class, Mrs. Richard S. Folson, who has recently attained skill and dexterity sufficient to enable her to give public demonstrations, has been at it quite strenuously for more than a year. Sarah Brewster, who is now in Europe, took a course, and others who will receive their training after taking vacations are the Lewis sisters, Roberta and Marion; Miss Muriel McCormick, Miss Lydia Connelly, Margaret Wiggins and Mrs. Pauline Whiting. Mrs. Folson is to give another public display of her aptitude for the shining blades on March 11 before the Cercle Francaise, and still another for the Illinois Women's Athletic club on April 5.

Mrs. Thomas C. Denney will open her residence at 1649 Astor street this afternoon for the third lecture of the series being given under the auspices of the Chapel Guild of the Convent of the Sacred Heart. The Rev. Alphonsus Schwab, who will speak on "Biological studies in Habit Formation."

The first of the series of lectures being given by Dr. Arthur G. Terry on the colonization of America, at the Chicago Historical society, which took place last Monday, was so interesting that it was with difficulty that the audience was dispersed. Tonight's talk is entitled "The New World," and will deal with the discovery of America, Spain's monopoly, Elizabethan England, Dutch maritime expansion, and the defeat of Spain.

The Drama League has a theater party at the opening performance of "Accused" at the Shubert theater on its calendar for this evening. Mrs. Walter F. Braun is in charge of the arrangements.

The Junior Friends of Art are to meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Drake. They will hear "A Review of the Current Books," by Edwin Palmer. The Junior Friends' president, Miss Clara Mann, is to spend another fortnight in Palm Beach.

Miss Margaret Keeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Keeley of 1209 North Dearborn, has set June 10 for her wedding to Capt. Edwin of San Francisco. The service will be read by the Rev. Norman Hutton at St. Chrysostom's church. Miss Keeley returned recently from a visit with her fiancé and his family.

A congenial group of friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Spoor of 1228 State Parkway, the Charles L. Strobel of 144 North Michigan avenue, and wife, and the family of the Ambassador hotel are to depart on Wednesday to bask in southern sunshine on the shores of the Gulf of Mexico, at Biloxi, for a fortnight.

Mrs. M. D. Radtich, wife of the Mayor, and her daughter, Miss Rita E. Radtich, have returned from a ten months' trip to Europe and are domiciled at the Pullman Plaza hotel. They visited St. Martin, Geneva, Zurich, Vienna, Monte Carlo, and Paris.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Request for Hymns.

"Will some church or Sunday school hymnal gospel hymnal to a struggling Sunday school? J. A. B. If you can supply this Sunday school with the hymnals I shall be glad to forward the address."

Unfortunate.

"I am hardly able to work since a severe nervous breakdown last fall. I started to work too early, against the doctor's advice, and was sick again most of January. I am simply swamped with debts and my clothes are all old. If one has a street dress, she is, preferably, flannel, that she is about to discard, I'd appreciate it so much.

This girl has had a lot of misfortune, but it will relieve her of a great deal of worry if we can get her some clothing. A discarded dress in the size she wears will be a big help.

Keeping Your

Schoolgirl Complexion

By HENRY CASTLE

Copyrighted 1926 by H. C. Castle

Wash Face?—Yes

But mind what sort of soap you use

Take care that you use only such soap as is made solely to protect the complexion, then always according to this simple rule.

FOREMOST skin authorities urge washing the face regularly as essential to natural complexion clearness. But all agree greatest care in selecting the kind of soap one uses.

Risking a precious complexion to an unproven soap is a folly. The only kind of soap to use on your face is a soap made solely to safeguard the complexion. Launder and cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care.

The accepted skin care of today starts largely with Palmolive, a soap made of rare cosmetic oils, a soap made for one purpose only—to be used freely and lavishly on the skin.

The rule in skin care Experts agree in this Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge, if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Get real Palmolive

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Then note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois. (Advertisement.)

What She Dreams and What She Gets

Reconciling the Two

BY DORIS BLAKE.

As arrogant youth we make up our minds that when our big chance comes we are going to show the world how it could be better run with us at the helm. We aren't going to stand for this and that—not while we can do such and such. We aren't going to accept drudgery like mother does for a man who may be appreciative—and again may not.

"No, sir! The man I get is going to be different!" youth cries. "He's going to have everything, so he can give me everything."

In the arrogance of those early aspirant days, what a perfectly gorgeous Prince Charming that husband-to-be is dreamed—one with all the virtues and not a single human frailty. Excepting jealousy. Yes, he must be frantically jealous, because he will be so tremendously in love. Handsome he must be, and debonair. So fatally attractive that every girl acquaintance must curl up and die of envy!

Maybe an occasional girl's dream comes true, although we have not received an actual report yet. If he were frantically jealous, you see, he'd—well, he wouldn't be the haloed Prince Charming after all.

In place of that perfect creature she is more likely to get one who is kind of fussy, one who is a little selfish where his own creature comforts are concerned, one who hasn't the making of a world's capitalist in him; one who grumbles occasionally; one whose eyes light up shamelessly when a pretty dapper pick him out of a gathering; one who repeats his rather tiresome jokes time and again; one who forgets to remark to his wife daily upon the fact that he is still terribly in love; yes, and one who even lets the anniversaries and birthdays go unnoticed.

And yet, in spite of all those arrogant threats here and in New Orleans, in which she now sees no drudgery at all. In spite of all her fairy prince yearning, she thinks he is just about the most wonderful dear on earth and she adores him. She wouldn't trade him for all the Prince Charmings in the world.
